Bills signed on wages, vegan lunch and health care visits

By JERRY NOWICKI

Capitol News Illinois

SPRINGFIELD – Gov. JB Pritzker has signed 401 bills sent to him this calendar year, leaving just 10 of those passed by lawmakers this year awaiting his action as of Monday.

His most recent crop of signed bills included a measure taking aim at wage theft in the construction industry and a pair of bills aimed at increasing access to treatment for HIV.

The wage theft measure, House

Bill 5412, was a major initiative of a regional carpenters' union that allows a worker with a wage theft or fringe benefit grievance against a subcontractor to sue the primary contractor to rectify the situation.

The Mid-America Carpenters Regional Council was the main backer of HB 5412. Minority contractors lobbied against the proposal, which they said would drive up costs and limit work opportunities. Minority groups argued that the measure was a union attempt to drive up the cost of non-union labor.

HB 5412 specifically exempts union projects, homes built on private property where the property owner is the general contractor and projects contracted through the government.

A follow-up measure, House Bill 4600, was also signed Friday. It exempts any renovations or repairs to existing residential structures, any project that costs less than $20,000 to complete and construction on any single unit within a multi-family dwelling. It also created the Bond Reform in the Construction Industry Task Force to report to the General Assembly by March 1, 2023. The laws took effect upon the governor's signature.

Vegan lunches: House Bill 4089 requires school districts to provide a plant-based lunch option that complies with federal nutritional requirements to any student who submits a prior request to the district asking for such an option. The law takes effect in August 2023.

Health care visits: Senate Bill 1405 requires that a health care facility must ensure "an opportunity for at least one visitor to visit a resident or patient," even amid

Rainbow Resource aids homeschoolers

TOULON – From a humble beginning of homeschooling seven children, a local family business now provides educational information for parents across the U.S. and the world.

Rainbow Resource Center, Inc. has a motto "Learning Tools for Homes & Schools" that is applicable for parents who want to homeschool their children. RRC provides educational material such as course books and supplemental material to learning for students on a level that rivals structured K-12 education.

Bob and Linda Schneider founded RRC in 1989 from homeschooling their seven children.

Shown above is the inside of a massive warehouse owned by Rainbow Resource Center, Inc., that's full of educational material. Below is the exterior of the building, which is situated in a rural location between Toulon and West Jersey. Photos by John A. Ballentine.

"Our kids named our school 'The Rainbow Christian School'. So, we picked the name Rainbow Resource Center for the company," Bob Schneider said.

"We started to accumulate a lot of material that we knew we wouldn't use again. We thought other families were in the same situation, so we started a recycling service for used materials. We sold on consignment anything somebody would send to us.

"It was a mailing list of all the materials and we would sell them

Redevelopment plan may expand in P-ville

Board to consider scope, payments

By NICK VLAHOS

For The Weekly Post

PRINCEVILLE – The Residential Redevelopment Program in Princeville might become more than just paint. And more than a $350 reimbursement for homeowners.

Owners of residential properties in certain sections of Princeville might receive from the village up to $2,500 to help pay for completed exterior physical improvements. During its meeting June 21, the Princeville Village Board is expected to consider the revised plan.

"If it's going to improve a property and help somebody doing it, we want to be able to do it," Village President Jeff Troutman said.

The revision represents a redistribution of current village-improvement funds and an expansion of a proposal the board first considered in early May and discussed again June 6.

Initially, the plan was to reimburse residential-property owners for at least part of the cost of exterior paint. Typical maximum reimbursement would have been $250, with an upper limit of $350 if the paint was purchased in Princeville.

The addition of other exterior repairs and renovations would harmonize the proposed residential program with a current municipal program for business beautification, Troutman

RAINBOW: Sells new products only since 1997

 by mail order,” Schneider explained about the company’s beginnings.
 “So. We tried some new products as well and we contacted a few publishers to sell their products. That’s the part of the business that took off,” Schneider said. “We dropped the used books in 1997 and it’s been new products only, since then.”
 RRC’s focal point is providing good materials for private education.
 “We evaluate products as far as how effective they are for home-schooling or private schooling concerning quality, cost and value. Our philosophy is that the same book may work well for one student and not so well for another depending on how they learn,” Schneider said.
 He said RRC has a staff of evaluators who review products that customers can purchase. There are catalogues available to customers that give course descriptions and customers can choose material to order from those catalogues. There are also consultants available for customer questions, which helps them choose the best product for their students.

 Customers are parents, families, and also private or charter schools.
 “Our goal is to give a child the best education when their schooling is complete. Homeschooling ideally institutes a desire to learn that reaches into the future,” Schneider said. “People chose homeschooling for religious reasons, bullying, or for concerns over school safety. The benefits are one-on-one schooling, more opportunity in curriculum choices and tutoring.”
 RRC is located in southwest Stark County in rural West Jersey on Duncan Road, 655 Township Road

500E. On the corner of its property sits a huge warehouse chocked-full of seemingly every possible educational book. It is the hub of the operation and customer orders are filled and shipped quickly.
 Currently the company employees 60 full-time workers and 10 to 15 part-time employees.
 The automated warehouse is a technological wonder where orders are shipped throughout the U.S. and internationally to countries such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Turkey. Military families and missionary families are also among the customers who take advantage of RRC’s curriculum offerings.
 Rainbow Resource Center’s website is www.rainbowresource.com and the company’s toll-free phone number is 888-841-3456.

It had to happen sooner or later. After 18 years of surpassing previous amounts raised, the My Place St. Jude event finally hit the wall. So what. Raising $111,383 in one day for any cause is still worth applause, particularly in the face of record gas prices, record inflation and now a crashing stock market. Kudos to all who put on the event. ... Brimfield native Travis Kreiter was busy Sunday helping his fiancée, Mina Harigae, take home the largest second-place prize in women's golf history. Harigae finished second at the U.S. Women's Open to earn $1,080,000 – after having earned $84,721 so far this season. Kreiter has been caddying for Harigae for more than four years and she credits him with helping her game. "He has a great killer-athlete mentality," Harigae told golfchannel.com. A 2008 Class 1A state golf champ who played at Bradley for two years, Kreiter spent two years on the pro tour and works as an assistant pro at Superstition Mountain Country Club in Arizona, which is where he met Harigae.

I've heard glowing praise for bio-diesel, but what I'd never heard until this spring was the downside to this hybrid fuel. Those lessons were learned the hard way when my previously reliable tractor started conking out whenever I mowed. Turns out, mold, bacteria and fungus can grow inside a tank if fuel sits too long without use. While this can happen with normal diesel, it's more common with bio-diesel products, which are produced from vegetable oils, grease, cooking oils and animal fats. Legends of bio-diesel include vehicles driving around emitting exhaust that smells like french fries due to the cooking oils that made up part of the fuel. That's nice. What's not nice is clogged filters, reduced power and costly repairs. So be warned. There are additives you can put in bio-diesel to help avoid problems of water separation and gunk in the tank. Or you can pay more for real diesel. ... There was one benefit to the tractor being sidelined for several weeks. One of our food plots – planted ostensibly for deer – went crazy, flowered and has been attracting all sorts of insects. When I finally went out to mow the overgrown patch to plant something "better for wildlife," I was excited to see 13 tiny pheasant chicks running ahead of me, as well as a gorgeous rooster pheasant. In a flash, I turned off the PTO and raised the mower deck. Those weeds can stay put until August, when we're all done with nesting seasons and the cute chicks will have grown into gangly adolescents.

The Republican gubernatorial primary is getting uglier. Monday's mail brought an eight-page newspaper printed, apparently, by Darren Bailey's campaign. The paid ad is designed to strike back at comments made by Aurora Mayor Richard Irvin in various flyers and in his own four-page newspaper, which came a week ago. What's ironic to me is that most candidates act like newspapers are dead. Why then would they use the very same format they belittle in an attempt to boost their campaigns? I'm also curious about the Prairie State Wire website (prairiestatewire.com) mentioned in Bailey's paper, which has links to several "publications" around the state. Who is paying for all this? ... Parting shot: After this hot weather, I'll be expecting big tomatoes to show up soon. The scale is ready.

Preserving wetlands critical for the future

There are few wetlands in this world that don't offer feelings of solace to sheer emotions of awesome being. From the Everglades, the Pantanal in South America, the Boreal Forest in the northern hemisphere, the Prairie Potholes in the U.S. and Canada, to the beautiful restorations right here in Illinois, all invite deep thinking about their past, in many cases their degraded present, but also great hope for a "back to the future" transformation.

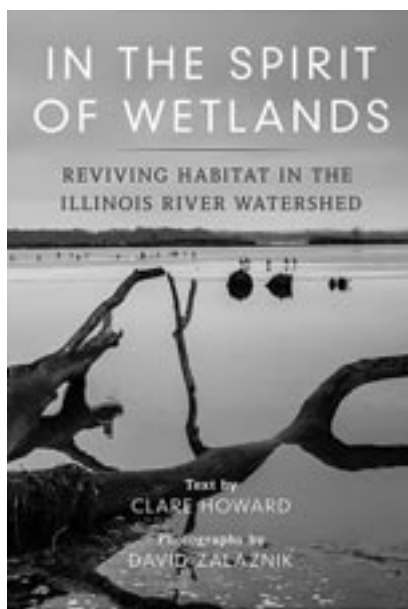

Doug OBERHELMAN

After all, these wetlands, young and old have one thing in common – they are wet, and that means water. Water is life to everything from songbirds in our backyards to waterfowl that require wetlands to reproduce and thrive.

It's not only birds, but many animals, too. Otters, beavers and muskrats and many more are all required for healthy wetlands and clean water. And of course, we humans need more and more clean water every year. Life is short without wetlands and water.

In my lifetime, I've been fortunate to see firsthand wetlands in many countries of the world. As a young Caterpillar rep living in South America, fishing on the Paraguay River was an awesome, eye-opening experience. Floating vegetative islands cruised by with the current, full of exquisite flora and fauna, piranha took our bait and it seemed every fish was so exotic.

Twenty years later, I returned with my wife, Diane, to the same exact spot and found a brown, silt-stained waterway. There were no islands, no birds and no beautiful flowers. What happened? Deforestation that allowed the country to grow and prosper. Bad news and good news.

It seems this is the conundrum of wetlands – the need to use them, drain them, farm them and develop them to provide for growing populations of people, while at the same time trying to preserve and restore those that can be remade to provide for life-giving qualities, natural beauty and tranquility.

A growing public awareness of the plight of wetlands and water is creating a wave of investments, government attention and "in the dirt" restoration.

A recent and wonderful work of writing and photography, "In The Spirit of the Wetlands," by Clare Howard and photographer David Zalaznik, proves how changes can and are being made. This book is a must read for everyone and is proof that public opinion is the power to drive these changes.

Fortunately, also through tremendous efforts by Ducks Unlimited, The Nature Conservancy, the Max McGraw Foundation and countless others – coupled with passionate conservation efforts of many individuals and philanthropists – this is a time of greater expectations than ever to get "back to the future" for wetlands and water-restoration efforts.

For Diane and I, it's an imperative and something we wish to leave to the next generations. It'll pay dividends like nothing else.

Doug Oberhelman is former CEO of Caterpillar, Inc., and is Vice President of the Wetlands America Trust, a non-profit organization that supports Ducks Unlimited.

Replacement of Art Institute docents misguided

To the Editor:

For me, the acronym PC has two meanings: personal computer and politically correct. I am stuck with my reliance on the first, and I rebel against the second.

The latest attack which denies any existence of even a modicum of "replacement" in today's decision making is myopic.

Example: The Art Institute of Chicago of Chicago last fall released their volunteer docents, the people who studied the various displays and passed tests of their knowledge before being allowed to conduct educational tours of different areas, because they were "privileged whites."

The qualifications for those who would take those positions were not designated, but I doubt a white person would be considered.

Some who will read this will label me as racist for objecting. To them I say, "Look in the mirror, and tell me how your reaction is not racially based."

Most actions are reactions.

– Dimitri Beres, Elmwood

Elmwood OKs street closings for concerts

By NICK VLAHOS

For The Weekly Post

ELMWOOD – The advent of summer means an advent of thoroughfare closures in downtown Elmwood. Unlike repairs, perhaps, these closures are only for a few hours and are causes for celebration.

Part of South Magnolia Street is to be closed Friday, and part of East Main Street is to be closed July 29. Street parties that include musical entertainment are the reason.

The parties expand an effort begun last year by the Elmwood Development Association, a coalition of local businesses and other groups. The initial impetus was the coronavirus pandemic, according to Amy Davis, the city economic-development director.

“Our taverns had been shut down,” she said. “We were trying to think of something to get people back out. We thought of an outdoor event outside of the taverns. Just to allow people to enjoy the evening, have a beverage and listen to music or even have a bite to eat.”

The featured entertainment Friday on Magnolia Street between Main and Hawthorne streets is to be Common Ground. The Elmwood-based band plays rock music from the 1960s to the present. The EDA is sponsor.

Farmers State Bank is sponsoring the street party July 29. It is to feature Twisted Whiskey, a Peoria-area quintet that specializes in classic and 1990s-era rock. The site is Main Street between Magnolia and Rose streets.

Music is to begin about 8 p.m. each night, although the areas are to be open by about 6 p.m. for dining and drinking. Wrap-up is about 11 p.m.

Davis has been calling the events the outdoor concert series, but there is no formal name. Only one such event was held last year, but a third is possible in August, she said.

The Elmwood City Council approved closing thoroughfares for those respective parties. During its meeting June 7, the council also authorized closure of Chestnut Drive for a private Independence Day party July 3. Among residents of that cul-de-sac is Elmwood Mayor JD Hulslander, Davis said.

The council took no action regarding the city budget for the 2023 fiscal year. Council members were asked to prioritize their budget requests. Additional discussion and budget approval is expected next month.

PRINCEVILLE: Allocation would change

suggested. That program has been in effect about five years.

Each fiscal year, the village board has budgeted $50,000 in tax-increment-financing money for the commercial program. That amount would be reduced to $20,000, with the other $30,000 transferred into the residential program.

“We’re not changing the amount of money, we’re changing how we allocate it,” Troutman said.

In TIF districts, property taxes that are to go to various bodies are frozen. Subsequent tax increases are diverted into a fund used for infrastructure improvements that can lead to area redevelopment.

Like the Princeville commercial program, the residential program would be limited to property owners located in TIF District 1. Most of downtown and west Princeville is in that district. Property owners can check their tax bills or call Village Hall to determine if they’re eligible.

Projects that would qualify for funding include repair and replacement of roofs, siding and windows; repair or addition of porches, steps and ramps; and demolition of garages and sheds. In some cases, tree removal and repair and replacement of private concrete or asphalt driveways and sidewalks might also be eligible.

Maximum reimbursement would be 75 percent of eligible project costs, not to exceed $2,500. There would be an application process. Project-completion deadline would be 180 days after the Village Board approves an application.

The grant is to be paid upon project completion and verification of how much money residential-property owners spent. Only one grant per property would be approved each fiscal year (May 1 through April 30).

During its meeting on June 6, the board discussed expanding the scope of the proposed residential-paint program. It also approved a special-event liquor license, with fees waived, for the Akron-Princeville Fire Department entertainment garden held from June 24-25, during the village’s annual Heritage Days festival.

No action was taken regarding the village budget for fiscal year 2023. According to Troutman, deadline for approval is July 31.

PUBLIC RECORD

NOTE: Charges are merely an accusation. All suspects are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Correction

• TRIVOLI – On May 4, a 2022 Chevrolet utility vehicle driven by Kaylee L. Catton of Farmington rear-ended a 2006 Mazda sedan driven by Bailey M. Kennelly of Yates City. The accident happened in the 18900 block of W. Farmington Rd. A report in the May 19 issue of The Weekly Post transposed who rear-ended whom, based on an incorrect Peoria County Sheriff's Office report.

Police reports

• FARMINGTON – A Farmington man was accused of domestic battery and endangering the life and health of a child, among other crimes. Timothy J. Fultz, 21, was arrested about 3:30 p.m. June 12 at an Elmwood residence in connection with an incident that took place about 1 p.m. June 11 at his home in the 100 block of W. Pearl St. in Farmington.

Fultz was accused of punching a 30-year-old man multiple times, pushing a 20-year-old woman who was holding an 8-month-old baby and grabbing the child from her, according to Farmington Police. Fultz was transported to the Fulton County Jail.

• KICKAPOO – A Mack truck rear-ended the automobile of a Brimfield woman who was attempting to drive onto Interstate 74, authorities stated.

Shortly after 7:30 a.m. June 9, Juliene M. Litwin was southbound on Kickapoo-Edwards Road in a 2018 Audi Q5 and waiting for northbound traffic to clear so she could enter the eastbound interstate, per the Peoria County Sheriff's Office. But a semi-trailer truck driven by Shawn A. Barclay of Pekin struck the rear of the Audi. Damage was extensive.

Barclay said he didn't notice Litwin's car had stopped but mashed the brake pedal to the floor to avoid a collision, a police report stated. He was cited for following too closely.

• FARMINGTON – Police arrested two men walking, and possibly arguing, on Illinois Route 116 west of Farmington after they were found to have outstanding warrants. The arrest was at about 7:15 p.m. June 6.

Gregory A. Belville, 31, of Peoria and James M. Dillow, 52, of Virginia, Ill., told a Farmington police officer their vehicle ran out of gasoline. The officer responded after a complaint about the pair being in the roadway. It appeared the men were arguing with each other, a police report stated.

Neither suspect possessed identification, but the officer checked their names with the Fulton County Sheriff's Office. The report did not state the nature of the warrants. Belville was transported to the Fulton County Jail in Lewistown. Dillow was taken to Mason County Jail in Havana.

• PRINCEVILLE – A mailbox in front of a residence in the 100 block of W. South St. in Princeville was ripped from its moorings between 9 p.m. June 6 and 7:30 a.m. June 7. According to the Peoria County Sheriff's Office, a woman heard a loud noise between 9 and 10 p.m. June 6. She stepped outside and saw a black pickup truck headed west on South Street. She did not investigate further, a police report stated.

The next morning, the woman found the broken mailbox in her yard. She said she intends to press charges if a suspect is identified.

• BARTONVILLE – A Hanna City man was uninjured after an automobile slammed into a tractor he was driving, according to authorities. About 3:30 p.m. June 6, Jarret W. Summers was turning a Case tractor left onto Tuscarora Road from Cameron Lane when a car driven by Steven T. Umphlett of Peoria attempted to pass from behind. Umphlett's vehicle struck the tractor's driver's-side front tire, a Peoria County Sheriff's report stated.

• HANNA CITY – About 7:15 p.m. June 6, Jonathan M. Bleichner of Hanna City was driving an all-terrain vehicle in a field near Greengold Road when it struck a hole and stopped. Bleichner was ejected, struck his head and lost consciousness, according to the Peoria County Sheriff's Office. He sustained head contusions and his right eye almost was swollen shut, a deputy stated. Bleichner was taken by ambulance to a Peoria hospital.

• PRINCEVILLE – About 7:45 a.m. June 8, Kari L. Cropin of Princeville was driving a 2017 GMC Acadia south in the 15100 block of Princeville-Jubilee Rd. and hit a deer. Cropin declined medical treatment, according to a Peoria County Sheriff's report. The deer died on impact.

• FARMINGTON – Christopher N. Staggs, 39, of Little Rock, Ark., was arrested about 1:30 p.m. June 11 at Casey's, 84 S. Main St., on a $20,000 warrant from Pulaski County, Ark., for drugs and firearms possession, drug-paraphernalia possession and possession with the intent to deliver methamphetamine, cocaine and heroin, among other crimes, according to the Farmington Police Department.

• FARMINGTON – Kati R. Fox, 26, of Canton was arrested about 12:15 a.m. June 11 on a Fulton County warrant for failure to appear in court in connection with a methamphetamine-possession accusation, according to the Farmington Police Department. Fox contacted the police to retrieve a cell phone that was collected as evidence in another case.

• FARMINGTON – An air compressor and two impact-driver tools were reported stolen from a residence in the 600 block of W. Marshall Ave. in Farmington. The compressor was inside a garage, and the impact drivers were inside a pickup truck parked in the garage, according to the Farmington Police Department.

• HANNA CITY – Briana M. Pierce, 28, of Hanna City was arrested June 9 and accused of aggravated battery, according to the Peoria County Sheriff's Office.

• PRINCEVILLE – Collin M. Hause, 24, of Princeville was arrested at 5 p.m. June 7 and accused of obstructing an officer and resisting a peace officer, according to the Peoria County Sheriff's Office.

a gubernatorial disaster declaration. A clergyman would not count against the limit. It became effective when signed on May 27.

Health safety guidelines set by a facility, U.S. Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention would still apply. A person seeking entry may be required to pass a health screening test and denied entry if they fail.

Rep. Chris Bos, R-Lake Zurich, the bill's chief House sponsor, said in April it was in response to constituent anger over Pritzker's COVID-19 executive orders.

HIV: House Bill 4430 allows pharmacists to order and conduct testing and dispense pre- and post-exposure HIV medications to individuals at high risk for infection. The law takes effect Jan. 1, 2023.

The governor signed that bill the same day he signed House Bill 5549, which requires that for every $3 million in the state's African American HIV/AIDS Response Fund, the fund must maintain at least one Black-led Center of Excellence HIV Biomedical Resource Hub.

Family bereavement: Senate Bill 3120 expands the state's child bereavement leave act to allow for unpaid leave related to pregnancy loss, failed adoptions, unsuccessful reproductive procedures and other pregnancy-related events. It expands existing law that allows 10 days of unpaid leave for workers suffering losses. The measure will go into effect on Jan. 1, 2023.

Higher education: House Bill 5464 requires state public universities and community colleges to develop and implement equity plans to increase the access, retention, completion and student loan repayment rates for minority students, rural students, adult students, women and people with disabilities. HB 5464 took effect when signed on June 7.

House Bill 4201, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 2023, requires state universities and community colleges to employ "benefits navigators" to connect students to any federal, state or local assistance programs.

OBITUARIES

Phyllis J. Sprague

FARMINGTON – Phyllis J. Sprague left this life and went to be with the Lord June 9, 2022. Phyllis was born in Pekin, Ill., to Virgil and Minnie Lord Dorsey on Dec. 16, 1939. She was the youngest of 11 siblings (4 sisters) Virginia, Ethel, Joan and Bernetta and (6 brothers) Cecil, Melvin, Don, Oscar, Jim and Lyle. They all greeted her in Heaven but she had a strong group of loving nieces and nephews remaining.

Sprague

Phyllis married the love of her life and high school sweetheart, Frank Sprague, on July 7, 1957. They lived in Farmington and raised four children – Julie (Dave) Werland, Dan Sprague, Darren (Brynda) Sprague, all of Farmington, and Doug (Tricia) Sprague of Decatur. They loved their 13 grandchildren all over the country: Heather (John) Messer, Holly (Mike) Arnett, Josh (Jennifer) Sheckler, John (Becca) Werland, Desera (Randy) Evans, Meghan (Troy) Kateman, Liza (Joe) Dziki, Kerrick (Angel) Sprague, Aspen Sprague, Kierney Sprague, Kayla (Chase) Welker, Alli (Nic) Scapecchi and Macie Sprague. They were also blessed to enjoy 18 great-grandchildren: Meisa and Joslyn Brown, Cody, Samuel and Josh Arnett, Sarah and Connor Sheckler, Wesley Miklus, Caden and Brynja Werland, Mallorie Manning, Carlye Dicketts, Emily and Ben Dziki, Wesley and Braden Sprague, Brynden and Brexley Welker.

Phyllis graduated from Farmington High School as a straight-A student. She spent her life as a loving and hard-working homemaker and lived her life loving and taking care of her family and her beloved dog Lucy.

The love, caring and respect between Frank and Phyllis was an example to all who knew them. Phyllis' early married life was happy but included losing everything they owned to fire and their children being born premature. Through it all they faced it together. She was very involved in all of her children's activities, most notably summer Little League. Frank was a longtime baseball coach and Phyllis worked the concession stands. They loved their trips to Minnesota fishing and after retirement spent each winter for 20 years in Florida on the beaches and then fishing at Crooked Hook campground. They loved the people and activities there.

As Phyllis wrote last year, "After they sold their Florida home, they enjoyed life at home with their Children, Grandchildren and Great-Grandchildren. I think we were able to have this beautiful life because we loved each other and trusted in God to guide us. You can face anything if you believe and trust in God and each other!"

The measure of person is best learned by the words those who knew and loved them use to remember her: "beautiful ... holding my grandpa's hand ... strong fighter ... loved fishing ... enjoyed line dancing to country music ... watching Fox News ... a month away from their 65th wedding anniversary ... fiercest woman I knew ... loved endlessly ... unwavering in her values and beliefs ... taught me to be strong and sure in what I stood for ... instilled an interest in news and politics ... fun of puzzles in the paper every morning, love of a good cup of coffee ... the value of loving your family and your significant other with no end ... amazing example my grandma and grandpa set for all of us for marriage and making a life together ... life will not be the same without you ... thankful and privileged to say you were such a huge part of my life ... you and grandpa never missed a sporting event ... countless summers spent at your house ... card games and puzzles ... the love Grandpa and you shared is something I will cherish ... catching crappies ... dancing ... life well lived ... thank you for showing me what pure unconditional love is especially held up in sickness and in health ... learned to explore, swim, enjoyed morning coffee and got my Grandpa off to work ... taught me a lot about love and the meaning of family ... I will miss our phone calls and visits ... until next time ... miss you already ... love you more than you will ever know."

A family Celebration of Life will be held in July and burial at a later date. Memorials can be made to Farmington Rescue Squad or Unity Point Hospice. Please share your memories, thoughts and condolences at sedgwickfuneralhomes.com.

VILLAGE OF WILLIAMSFIELD ANNUAL DRINKING WATER QUALITY REPORT FOR 2021

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
Williamsfield
IL0950650

Annual Water Quality Report for the period of January 1 to December 31, 2021.

This report is intended to provide you with important information about your drinking water and the efforts made by the water system to provide safe drinking water. The source of drinking water used by Williamsfield is Ground Water.

For more information regarding this report, contact:

Name: Larry Lawson
Phone: 309-368-0009

Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre el agua que usted bebe. Tradúzcalo ó hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Source of Drinking Water

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm water runoff, and residential uses.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at (800) 426-4791.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population.

Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800) 426-4791.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. We cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Source Water Assessment

We want our valued customers to be informed about their water quality. If you would like to learn more, please feel welcome to attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. The source water assessment for our supply has been completed by the Illinois EPA. If you would like a copy of this information, please stop by City Hall or call our water operator, 309-368-0009. To view a summary version of the completed Source Water Assessments, including: Importance of Source Water; Susceptibility to Contamination determination and documentation/recommendation of Source Water Protection Efforts, you may access the Illinois EPA website at

<http://www.epa.state.il.us/cgi-bin/wp/swap-fact-sheets.pl>

Source of Water: Williamsfield. To determine Williamsfield's susceptibility to groundwater contamination, information obtained during a Well Site Survey published in 1990 by the Illinois EPA, and Source Water Protection Plan were reviewed. Based on information contained in these documents, fourteen potential sources of groundwater contamination are present that could pose a hazard to groundwater pumped by the Williamsfield community water supply wells. These include Ferrol Gas, Spoon River FS, Farmhouse Gas Station, Sunoco Station, Hart Feed & Milling, Williamsfield Farmers Co-op, Na-Churs Plant Food Company, Country Craft Ceramics, the Village of Williamsfield, Ingle Construction Co., Wheelhouse Lawn & Garden, Gas & Service Station, unknown machine shop, and Weavers Hardware. Based upon this information, the Illinois EPA has determined that Williamsfield Wells #2 and #3 are not susceptible to IOC, VOC, or SOC contamination. This determination is based on a number of criteria including: monitoring conducted at the wells; monitoring conducted at the entry point to the distribution system; and the available hydrogeologic data for the wells. In anticipation of the U.S. EPA's proposed Ground Water Rule, the Illinois EPA has determined that Williamsfield's community water supply wells are not vulnerable to viral contamination. This determination is based upon the evaluation of the following criteria during the Vulnerability Waiver Process: the community's wells are properly constructed with sound integrity and proper site conditions; there is a hydrogeologic barrier that restricts pathogen movement; all potential routes and sanitary defects have been mitigated such that the source water is adequately protected; monitoring data did not indicate a history of disease outbreak; and the sanitary survey of the water supply did not indicate a viral contamination threat. However, having states this, the U.S. EPA is proposing to require States to identify systems in karst, gravel and fractured rock aquifer systems as sensitive. Water systems utilizing these aquifer types would be required to perform routine source water monitoring. Because the community's wells are constructed in a confined aquifer, which should provide an adequate degree of protection to prevent the movement of pathogens into the wells, well hydraulics were not considered to be a significant factor in the vulnerability determination.

2021 Regulated Contaminants Detected

Lead and Copper

Definitions:

Action Level Goal (AGL): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. AGL's allow for a margin of safety.

Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Lead & Copper	Date Sampled	MCLG	Action Level (AL)	90th Percentile	# Sites Over (AL)	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contaminants
Copper	2021	1.3		0.065	0	ppm	N	Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives; Corrosion of household plumbing systems.

Water Quality Test Results

Definitions: The following tables contain scientific terms and measures, some of which may require explanation.

Avg: Regulatory compliance with some MCLs are based on running annual average of monthly samples.

Level 1 assessment is a study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system.

Level 2 Assessment: A Level 2 assessment is a very detailed study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why an E. coli MCL violation has occurred and/or why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system on multiple occasions.

Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal or MCLG: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum residual disinfectant level goal or MRDLG: The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

na; not applicable. mrem: millirems per year (a measure of radiation absorbed by the body).

ppb: micrograms per liter or parts per billion - or one ounce in 7,350,000 gallons of water.

ppm: milligrams per liter or parts per million - or one ounce in 7,350 gallons of water.

Treatment Technique or TT: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Harmon sets third E-B track record

By JEFF LAMPE

For The Weekly Post

Thomas Harmon's assault on the Elmwood-Brimfield track record books hit a snag earlier this spring when the annual Journal Star Honor Roll Meet was cancelled due to weather. But last Saturday, Harmon made the most of one last opportunity.

Harmon had hoped to use the honor roll meet to take a shot at the E-B 1,600-meter record of 4:23.63 set in 1976 by Brad Fryer. Harmon had already set school records earlier in the season in the 400 (50.94) and 800 (1:54.77).

Harmon

Undeterred, Harmon traveled to Iowa's Pleasant Valley High School last Saturday to run in The Belmont Mile, a new event held strictly for mile races. The Brimfield grad won the high school boys race in 4:23.2. While that better Fryer's mark, Harmon looks even better after converting his mile to the 1,600 (which is actually 9.3 meters shorter than the mile, even though the two are nowadays used interchangeably). After doing the conversion, Harmon's time is an even faster 4:21.67.

E-B Coach Gregg Meyers said Fryer's record was also converted from a full mile, since he posted that time at the state meet in 1976.

"Thomas basically blew it out of the water," Meyers said.

And Harmon's is not the first E-B record set after the state meet, according to Meyers, who said Paul Hammond's 110 hurdles record of 14.73 came at the Journal Star meet. Meyers also has other un-specific recollections of a record set at a meet in Iowa City.

• Baseball honorees – The Brimfield-Elmwood baseball squad had four first-team selections after winning the PrarieLand Conference North Division championship: seniors Frank Kelch, Austin Baysingar and Drew Bryant and sophomore Kyle Binder. Also voted first-team was Farmington senior Riley Embry.

Second-team picks were senior Michael Seibert and sophomore Jude Strahm of B-E and Farmington junior Gage Renken.

Senior Jack Houlihan and sophomore Landon Binder were special mention picks for B-E, as was Farmington senior Ethan Evans.

In the ICAC, Kelch and Bryant were joined on the first team by ROWVA-Williamsfield senior Logan Kuberski. Houlihan and Baysingar were second-team selections, along with ROWVA-Williamsfield senior Wyatt Self. Named honorable mention were Strahm of B-E and R-W junior Graham Wight.

In the Lincoln Trail Conference, East Division honorees were Kuberski and Parker Dickinson of Princeville as pitchers, while position players singled out were Wight and Brian Bertlshofer of R-W along with Gage DeVries and Conner Freres of Princeville.

• Softball – Brimfield-Elmwood and Farmington combined for 10 players on
