Bailey, Sampson, Watkins winners in Illinois primary

By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post

Gov. JB Pritzker will find out Nov. 8 whether spending millions to pick his Republican foe was a good idea or not.

Unofficial results show State Sen. Darren Bailey (R-Xenia) won the Republican gubernatorial primary held Tuesday. With 58 percent of the vote counted, Bailey led a crowded Republican field with 56.9 percent of the vote. Jesse Sullivan was at 15.9 percent and Richard Irvin was running third at 15.5 percent.

Pritzker, who won easily on the Democrat side, spent heavily on ads for Bailey in the primary, a practice that seems certain to end old eSlate Voting system purchased in 2006 could no longer be supported.

Locally, one of the more interesting races involving a new district saw Travis Weaver leading Pekin Mayor Mark Luft to serve as State Rep. in the 93rd district. With 75 percent of the vote in, Weaver had 64.3 percent of the vote to lead Luft, technically the incumbent though his district changed dramatically.

Also contested locally were primary races for Peoria County and Knox County Sheriff.

In the Republican primary for Peoria County Sheriff, with 92 of 116 precincts reporting, Chris Watkins was leading Jason Buckley, 61.8 percent to 38.2.

"The platform I ran on was my experience. We both mean well and I'm glad we kept it in house," Watkins said. "Jason is a very great asset to Peoria County. But people saw the resumes and saw I've brought more to the sheriff's office my whole career."

In Knox County with all precincts reporting, former Deputy Douglas Sampson topped Williamsfield Police Chief James Robertson in the Democratic primary, 51.7 percent to 48.3 percent – winning by a mere 30 votes. The winner will face off

Princeville ups pay rate for subs, staff

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

PRINCEVILLE – Keeping up with the job market and the Joneses led the Princeville School Board to approve pay raises for some of its employees.

In the 2022-23 academic year, pay for substitute teachers is to be $125 per day, a $25 increase from 2021-22. Minimum wage for most personnel not certified to teach – aides, custodians and cafeteria workers, among others – is to rise to $15 per hour. That's a $3-an-hour increase.

Princeville Superintendent Shannon Duling said the hikes were necessary to attract new employees and retain current ones.

The new substitute rate matches those of the Princeville district's peers, according to Duling. He suggested the non-certified raises help make Princeville more competitive with those peers and other employers in what has become a ruthless labor market.

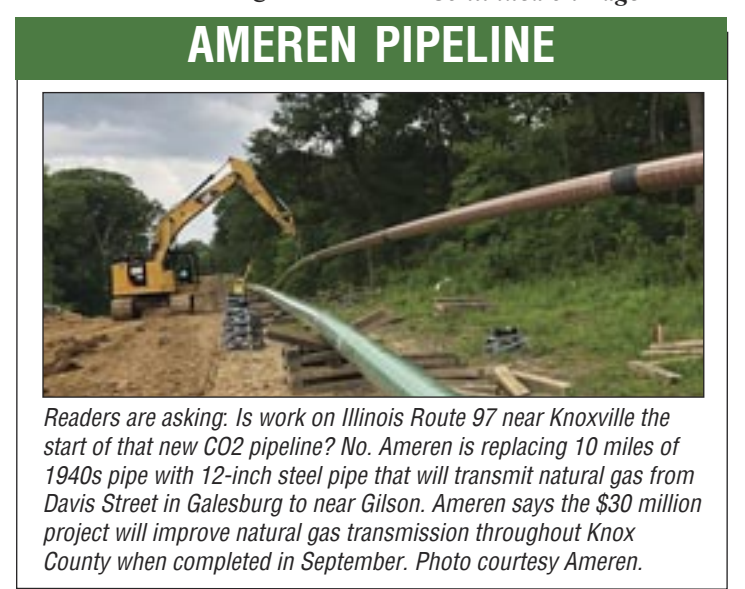

"When you can go out and work fast food and make over 15 bucks an hour, how do we compete with that?" Duling said. "We've lost a lot of our staff to higher-paying positions. It's one of those things where the board felt they didn't have a choice."

The board made its choices during a meeting June 21.

Pay might be among the reasons the district doesn't have as wide a choice of substitute teachers as it

AMEREN PIPELINE

Readers are asking: Is work on Illinois Route 97 near Knoxville the start of that new CO2 pipeline? No. Ameren is replacing 10 miles of 1940s pipe with 12-inch steel pipe that will transmit natural gas from Davis Street in Galesburg to near Gilson. Ameren says the $30 million project will improve natural gas transmission throughout Knox County when completed in September. Photo courtesy Ameren.

in November against Republican Jack Harlan and Independent Zachary A. Cox.

Also on the Democrat ballot, Knox County Public Defender David M. Hansen of Galesburg was well ahead of Jim Harrell of Rio to fill a vacancy as a Judge of the Circuit Court for the Ninth Judicial Circuit. Hansen had 69.1 percent of the vote with all precincts reporting.

And with 35.5 percent of the vote in, incumbent Sen. Win Stoller of Germantown Hills was in a close race, with 53.8 percent of the vote in a newly drawn 37th Senate District. At 46.2 percent was businessman Brett S. Nicklaus of Dixon.

Here are preliminary results in other elections:

- U.S. Senate – With 52 percent of the vote counted, Attorney Kathy Salvi of Mundelein was the leader among seven Republicans vying to run against incumbent Sen. Tammy Duckworth in November. Salvi had 31.2 percent of the vote according to the Chicago Tribune, while Peggy Hubbard was next at 23.9 percent and Matt Dubiel was running third at 12.7 percent.
- Congress, 16th Congressional District – Rep. Darin LaHood was poised to win easily in the Republican Congressional primary against retired Rockford engineer Walt Peters, Rockford attorney JoAnne Guillemette and Minooka business owner Michael Rebrech.
- Congress, 17th Congressional District – In the race to replace Cheri Bustos, Esther Joy King was leading Charles Helmick Jr. on the Republican ballot, 68 percent to 32 percent with 40 percent of the expected vote counted. A former weatherman on television stations in Rockford and Moline, Eric Sorensen led a crowded field of six Democrats with 35.8 percent and 58 percent of the expected vote counted. Litesa Wallace was next closest with 28.1 percent.

- Illinois Attorney General – Greenville Attorney Thomas DeVore was leading three Republicans seeking to face Democrat Kwame Raoul in November. With 43 percent of expected votes counted, DeVore had 43.3 percent. Deerfield Attorney Steve Kim was at 35.3 percent.
- Illinois Secretary of State – In the race to replace Jesse White, former State Treasurer Alexi Giannoulias was leading the Democrat race with 53.4 percent, putting him ahead of Chicago City Clerk Anna M. Valencia (34.1). Republican Dan Brady had a commanding lead over John C. Milhiser with 77.6 percent.
- State Central Committee – In the 17th Congressional District, State Rep. Jehan Gordon-Booth was winning easily in a three-person race for state central committeewoman.

Simple answers to the simple questions

Often, the simple answer to a simple question is the simple truth.

Some don't want the simple truth, so they bend facts or shave figures so their square pegs replace roundly accepted reality. It's common in ag.

For example, on April 12, President Joe Biden traveled to Iowa to announce an expansion of the ethanol blend in summer-time gasoline from 10 percent to 15 percent. Monte Shaw, the Iowa Renewable Fuels Association boss, called Biden's action "the single most important step the President is empowered to take to keep fuel prices down this summer."

But Biden's political gambit and Shaw's hefty hyperbole held more gas than any ethanol blend. Nationwide gasoline prices that day, according to AAA, averaged $4 per gallon. Today national gas prices hover around $5 per gallon.

Despite the effort, many in farm country continue to blame the Biden Administration for high fuel prices. One reason, some conservative critics cite, is that crude oil production is slowing due to the White House's allegiance to the "Green New Deal."

Alan GUEBERT

That's a stretch for two reasons. First, the Green New Deal isn't law and, second, data from the U.S. Energy Information Agency shows that "average annual domestic crude oil production" rose from 5.3 million barrels per day (mb/d) during the Bush administration to 7.2 million mb/d under Obama to 11 mb/d under Trump to 11.2 mb/d under Biden.

But, hey, facts rarely sidetrack political railroading.

The same goes for agriculture. For months, we've been warned of an impending global famine because of Russia's invasion of Ukraine, an important wheat exporter. Indeed, reported Politico June 17, U.S. officials "estimate the (Russian) blockade (of Ukrainian ports) is holding back more than 20 million tons of grain from the world food supply, driving food prices and world hunger to near-crisis levels."

Twenty million metric tons (mmt), or about 740 million bushels, is a lot of wheat – except when compared to global supplies. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) most recent World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates forecast 2022-23 world wheat production at 773.4 mmt, or 28.4 billion bu.

As such, the bottled-up Ukrainian wheat is equal to about 2.5 percent of this coming year's world production – not nothing, but hardly enough to fuel a famine this year or any year.

Some market worriers, though, continue to make a mountain out of that molehill. On June 20, Farm Journal's AgWeb noted that a private forecaster had pegged current global wheat stocks at 20 percent of yearly production instead of USDA's recent estimate of 33 percent.

Again, that sounds like a dramatic drop but, even at 20 percent, world stocks stand at "over 10 week's of ... wheat consumption in storage." Historically, that's average supply – especially when compared to U.S. stocks of corn and soybeans.

According to the same USDA report, American soybean stocks now stand at a slim 4.6 percent of total usage and, given a productive 2022, a year from now will be 6.8 percent. Likewise, this year's U.S. corn stocks are 10 percent of usage and, estimates USDA, will slip to 9.6 percent. No one sees either as cause for global concern.

I'm not alone in my doubt: Few in the futures market see 2022-23 wheat supplies as worrisome. From mid-May to late June, new wheat crop futures prices dropped 17 percent while new crop corn futures are just 9 percent lower and soybean futures are only 2 percent lower.

Simple numbers. Simple facts. Simple truth. Simple, right?

PUBLIC RECORD

NOTE: Charges are merely an accusation. All suspects are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Hanna City man arrested for DUI

HANNA CITY – A Hanna City man was accused of aggravated drunken driving after he was found asleep in his truck at a rural intersection. Cort A. Dixon, 28, was arrested after he was transported to a Peoria hospital following the incident at about 12:05 a.m. June 26 at Pinkerton and Murphy roads.

A passerby told a Peoria County Sheriff’s deputy he saw Dixon sleeping in the front seat of a 2011 Ford F250. Dixon told the deputy he thought it was 9:30 p.m. June 25 and he was in Bartonville. Dixon said he had two beers with lunch about noon but otherwise had not been drinking.

The deputy noted Dixon smelled of alcohol and had glassy, red eyes, slurred speech and trouble balancing. Dixon was found to have two prior drunken-driving convictions, hence the aggravated DUI charge.

After Dixon was released from OSF Saint Francis Medical Center, he was arrested, transported to the Peoria County Jail. and cited for operating an uninsured motor vehicle.

Police reports

• KICKAPOO – Someone driving a red Chevrolet Silverado left the Shell Station at 7200 N. Kickapoo-Edwards Rd without paying, according to the Peoria County Sheriff’s Office. The incident happened about 12:45 p.m. June 19. According to a store employee, the alleged thief pumped $52.62 in gas.

• HANNA CITY – Haley J. Barrick was southbound in a 2010 Ford Explorer on Hanna City-Glasford Road near Behrends Road about 2:30 a.m. June 16 when the vehicle entered a ditch, according to the Peoria County Sheriff’s Office.

The driver’s mother told a deputy she believed Barrick fell asleep on her way home from work. The accident took place during heavy rain.

The vehicle sustained a dented license plate. Barrick was transported to OSF Saint Francis for treatment.

• KICKAPOO – About 5 p.m. May 19, a 2016 Chevrolet Traverse driven by Charmin A. Leas of Wyoming killed a deer on Princeville-Jubilee Road near Robins Nest Lane, according to the sheriff’s office. Leas was southbound. The vehicle sustained front passenger-side damage.

• FARMINGTON – Jessaca M. Williamson, 24, of Farmington was arrested about 9:45 a.m. June 16 on a Fulton County warrant for failure to appear in court, according to the Farmington Police Department. After Williamson paid $180 in bond and bonding fees, she was assigned a new court date and released.

• EDWARDS – Jeremy M. Schleueter, 18, of Edwards was arrested about 1:10 a.m. June 26 and accused of battery/bodily harm, according to the sheriff’s office.

• TRIVOLI – Danielle M. Gershak, 36, of Trivoli was arrested about 3 p.m. June 23 and accused of failure to appear in court, according to the Peoria County Sheriff’s Office.

once did, according to Duling. Last school year, the usual list of substitutes was 5-7, down from the 10-15 of past years. Typically, the district requires two or three substitutes per day.

“Anybody that has a pulse,” Duling said jokingly about substitute-hiring criteria. “We need them.”

Duling said the general shortage of qualified teachers is the worst he’s seen in a decade at Princeville and more than 20 years in education administration overall. He noted the district has received no applications for two pre-kindergarten positions posted since April.

“The last two years have been tough on teachers,” Duling said in an apparent allusion to the coronavirus pandemic. “We have a lot of teachers who are retiring early, moving to other careers.”

Duling didn’t have specifics regarding the district financial budget for substitutes, but he estimated the pay raise would increase it by 15 to 20 percent.

Minimum wage for most non-certified personnel was to increase this year by $1 per hour, to $13, with a $15 floor expected in 2024-25. The board opted to advance the timetable.

Whether minimums exceed $15 in subsequent years might depend on the economy, the superintendent suggested.

The board also approved hiring Breckon McKinney as a Migrant Head Start/daycare teacher and Maeghen Potter as a special-education aide.

Employees who resigned were pre-K/Bright Futures teacher Whitney Bliss, grade-school library worker Kristi Christianson, junior-high science teacher Michael Davidson, seventh-grade volleyball coach Alyssa Dial, high school assistant football coach Ronald Francis, daycare director Ann Ladd and MHS/daycare teacher Julianna Trevino.

Farmington raises meal prices

By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post

FARMINGTON – The Farmington School Board approved an amended budget and other items for the 2022-23 school year.

Among those were increasing meal prices: $2.75 for Pre-K to Grade 8 lunch; $2.95 for high school lunch; 35 cents for milk; $1.90 for breakfast.

The board also approved Inter-State Studios as district photographer, a Physical Restraint and Isolation Reduction Plan, Mobex Laboratory for on-site testing and Heart Technologies for technology services.

Bid requirements were waived to hire Helm Mechanical to install a new indoor airflow unit.

The motion for a $5,000 donation to Light Up Yates City for lights at Harvest Home Park failed, 2-4.

In personnel, the board highred Byron Sondgeroth as high school Spanish teacher; Judd Anderson as high school cross country coach; Dylan Hayden as an assistant football coach; and Jenna Martin, Maria O’Brian and Patricia Wright as cafe workers.

The board renewed contracts with Lakin Slack as director of food services, Toby Vallas as director of student services and Chris Uptmore as junior high principal.

Finally, the board acknowledged the following resignations: Bethany Freese-Herink as music teacher, Nick Hoffmann as varsity assistant football coach, Rebecca Marvel as junior high track coach and Amanda Collins as an elementary school teacher.

The board plans to seat a new student board member at its July meeting.

Principal Dennis McMillin also gave an update on high school Algebra/Manufacturing and Geometry/Construction classes and discussed emergency evacuation plans.

Princeville hires new manager for pool

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

PRINCEVILLE – After a gap of about a year, a member of the Rice family again is managing the Princeville Aquatic Center. Landon Rice of Princeville assumed the part-time position in mid-June, according to Village Trustee Teresa Gilroy. She leads the committee that oversees the village-owned swimming facility, located at 620 Princeville Ave. Rice is heading into his senior year at Knox College in Galesburg, where he is a defensive lineman on the football team. For about a decade through last year, the aquatic-center manager was his father, Nate Rice, who also is a Peoria Fire Department division chief.

In between the Rice tenures, Hillary Hartley was manager. During a Village Board meeting June 21, Gilroy said Hartley was fired because of issues last year and this year. Gilroy would not elaborate. “Within two hours, I had a new one hired,” Gilroy said regarding Landon Rice, who will make $18 an hour.

The village personnel committee is expected to affirm Rice’s hiring when it meets July 5. During the Village Board meeting, Gilroy joked she wanted to keep Rice for the next five years at the aquatic center. “I can’t give him that comfort by myself, but I know he’s a good, responsible kid,” Gilroy said. “I’ve known him since he was this big. When you get somebody like that and they know what they’re doing and they know how it runs, it’s much easier to sleep at night.” The aquatic center is open from noon until 6 p.m. daily from late May until mid-to-late August, weather permitting, for general use. Rice has two assistant managers, Gilroy said. Employees ensure the pool receives proper chemicals and help oversee general order at the facility, among other duties. In other business, the board approved a program under which the village will reimburse some residential-property owners up to $2,500 to help pay for completed exterior physical improvements. The village will fund the program with $30,000 in tax-increment-financing money. Residential properties eligible for reimbursement must be in TIF District 1, which consists of most of downtown and west Princeville. Property owners can check their tax bills or call Village Hall to determine eligibility. A similar program exists for commercial properties.

The board had budgeted $50,000 for that, which was reduced to $20,000. The shift in funds was reflected in the FY 2023 budget, which the board also approved. The general fund projects revenues of $795,050 and expenses of $750,010.

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
FOX CREEK FARMS WATER COMPANY
IL1435750
Annual Water Quality Report for the period of January 1 to December 31, 2021.

This report is intended to provide you with important information about your drinking water and the efforts made by the water system to provide safe drinking water.

The source of drinking water used by FOX CREEK FARMS WATER COMPANY is Ground Water.

For more information regarding this report, contact:
Kevin Challacombe, 309-222-5980.

Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre el agua que usted bebe. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Source of Drinking Water

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be nat-

Source Water Assessment

We want our valued customers to be informed about their water quality. If you would like to learn more, please feel welcome to attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. The source water assessment for our supply has been completed by the Illinois EPA. If you would like a copy of this information, please stop by City Hall or call our water operator, 309-222-5980. To view a summary version of the completed Source Water Assessments, including: Importance of Source Water; Susceptibility to Contamination determination and documentation/recommendation of Source Water Protection Efforts, you may access the Illinois EPA website at <http://www.epa.state.il.us/cgi-bin/wp/swap-fact-sheets.pl>.

urally occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm water runoff, and residential uses.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at (800) 426-4791.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population.

Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800) 426-4791.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. We cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Source Water Information
Source Water Name	Type of Meter		Report Status		Location
WELL 1 (50184)	NW CORNER OF SUBD		GW

Source of Water: FOX CREEK FARMS WATER COMPANY To determine Fox Creek Farms Water Company's susceptibility to groundwater contamination, a Well Site Survey, published in 1990 by the Illinois EPA, was reviewed. Based on the information contained in this document, no potential sources of groundwater contamination are present that could pose a hazard to groundwater pumped by the Fox Creek Farms Water Company community water supply well. The Illinois EPA has determined that Fox Creek Farms Water Company Well #1 is not susceptible to IOC, VOC, or SOC contamination. This determination is based on a number of criteria including: monitoring conducted at the well; monitoring conducted at the entry point to the distribution system; and the available hydrogeologic data for the well. In anticipation of the U.S. EPA's proposed Ground Water Rule, the Illinois EPA has determined that Fox Creek Farms Water Company's community water supply well is not vulnerable to viral contamination. This determination is based upon the evaluation of the following criteria during the Vulnerability Waiver Process: the community's well is properly constructed with sound integrity and proper site conditions; there is a hydrogeologic barrier that restricts pathogen movement; all potential routes and sanitary defects have been mitigated such that the source water is adequately protected; monitoring data did not indicate a history of disease outbreak; and the sanitary survey of the water supply did not indicate a viral contamination threat. However, having stated this, the U.S. EPA is proposing to require States to identify systems in karst, gravel and fractured rock aquifer systems as sensitive. Water systems utilizing these aquifer types would be required to perform routine source water monitoring. Because the community's well is constructed in a confined aquifer, which should provide an adequate degree of protection to prevent the movement of pathogens into the well, well hydraulics were not considered to be a significant factor in the vulnerability determination.

2021 Regulated Contaminants Detected
Lead and Copper
Definitions:
Action Level Goal (ALG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. ALG's allow for a margin of safety.
Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
Lead & Copper	Date Sampled	MCLG	Action Level (AL)	90th Percentile	# Sites Over (AL)	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contaminants
Copper	08/21/2019	1.3	1.3	0.245	0	ppm	N	Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives; Corrosion of household plumbing systems.
Lead	08/21/2019	0	15	1	0	ppb	N	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits.

Water Quality Test Results

Definitions: The following tabs contain scientific terms and measures, some of which may require explanation.

Avg: Regulatory compliance with some MCLs are based on running annual average of monthly samples.

Level 1 Assessment: A Level 1 assessment is a study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system.

Level 2 Assessment: A Level 2 assessment is a very detailed study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why an E. coli MCL violation has occurred and/or why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system on multiple occasions.

Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal or MCLG: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum residual disinfectant level goal or MRDLG: The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

na: not applicable. mrem: millirems per year (a measure of radiation absorbed by the body).

ppb: micrograms per liter or parts per billion - or one ounce in 7,350,000 gallons of water.

ppm: milligrams per liter or parts per million - or one ounce in 7,350 gallons of water.

Treatment Technique or TT: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Disinfectants and Disinfection By-Products	Collection Date	Highest Level Detected	Range of Levels Detected	MCLG	MCL	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contamination
Chloramines	12/31/2021	1.5	1 - 1.8	MRDLG = 4	MRDL = 4	ppm	N	Water additive used to control microbes

Annual Drinking Water Quality Report
ESQUIRE ESTATES MHP
IL1435245
Annual Water Quality Report for the period of
January 1 to December 31, 2021.

This report is intended to provide you with important information about your drinking water and the efforts made by the water system to provide safe drinking water.

The source of drinking water used by ESQUIRE ESTATES MHP is Ground Water.

For more information regarding this report, contact:
Kevin Challacombe, 309-222-5980.

Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre el agua que usted bebe. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Source of Drinking Water

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be nat-

Source Water Assessment

We want our valued customers to be informed about their water quality. If you would like to learn more, please feel welcome to attend any of our regularly scheduled meetings. The source water assessment for our supply has been completed by the Illinois EPA. If you would like a copy of this information, please stop by City Hall or call our water operator, 309-222-5980. To view a summary version of the completed Source Water Assessments, including: Importance of Source Water; Susceptibility to Contamination determination and documentation/recommendation of Source Water Protection Efforts, you may access the Illinois EPA website at <http://www.epa.state.il.us/cgi-bin/wp/swap-fact-sheets.pl>.

Source of Water: ESQUIRE ESTATES MHP To determine Esquire Estates MHP's susceptibility to groundwater contamination, a Well Site Survey, published in 1991 by the Illinois EPA, was reviewed. During the survey of Esquire Estates MHP's source water protection area, Illinois EPA staff recorded three potential sources, routes, or possible problem sites within the 1,000 foot survey radius of the well. These include a below ground fuel storage, a septic storage/disposal, and a lagoon.The Illinois EPA has determined that Esquire Estates MHP well #1 is not susceptible to IOC, VOC, or SOC contamination. This determination is based on a number of criteria including: monitoring conducted at the well; monitoring conducted at the entry point to the distribution system; and the available hydrogeologic data for the well.

Lead and Copper
Definitions:
Action Level Goal (ALG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. ALG's allow for a margin of safety.
Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Lead & Copper	Date Sampled	MCLG	Action Level (AL)	90th Percentile	# Sites Over (AL)	Units	Violation	Likely Source of Contaminants
Copper	08/28/2019	1.3	1.3	0.057	0	ppm	N	Erosion of natural deposits; Leaching from wood preservatives; Corrosion of household plumbing systems.
Lead	08/28/2019	0	15	3.5	0	ppb	N	Corrosion of household plumbing systems; Erosion of natural deposits.

Water Quality Test Results

Definitions: The following tabs contain scientific terms and measures, some of which may require explanation.

Avg: Regulatory compliance with some MCLs are based on running annual average of monthly samples.

Level 1 Assessment: A Level 1 assessment is a study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system.

Level 2 Assessment: A Level 2 assessment is a very detailed study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine (if possible) why an E. coli MCL violation has occurred and/or why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system on multiple occasions.

Maximum Contaminant Level or MCL: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal or MCLG: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum residual disinfectant level or MRDL: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum residual disinfectant level goal or MRDLG: The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

na; not applicable. mrem: millirems per year (a measure of radiation absorbed by the body).

ppb: micrograms per liter or parts per billion - or one ounce in 7,350,000 gallons of water.

ppm: milligrams per liter or parts per million - or one ounce in 7,350 gallons of water.

Treatment Technique or TT: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

urally occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.

Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban storm water runoff, and residential uses.

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at (800) 426-4791.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Don and Rosemary had six children: five sons, Steve (Sandie) Duley of Pulaski, Wis., Bob (Cindy) Duley of Farmington, Ill. (Bob passed away July 25, 2009, and Cindy passed away Oct. 23, 2021); Ron (Kathy Thomas) Duley of Volcano, Calif.; Tom (Pat) Duley of Lexington, Ill.; Gary (Tammy) Duley of Hanna City; and one daughter, Charlene (Chuck) McCollum of Peoria, Ill. They also have 12 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren. Don is survived by his special friend, Vernece Homan. They have enjoyed the last 11 years together. Don worked briefly at Shissler Seed Company in his early years and was a lifetime farmer, still actively farming in his late 80s. He was the man you did not want to disappoint, not because you feared him but because you loved and respected him so much. He showed honesty, outstanding work ethics and fairness. He always set a good example. Don was a great man and father, our family's rock. He will always be deeply missed and never replaced. May he rest in peace forever in Heaven with those he loved who went before him. A graveside service will be held at 10:30 a.m., on Saturday, July 2, 2022, at Elmwood Township Cemetery. A Celebration of Life will be held at noon at the Farmington Moose following the service. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Logan-Trivoli Fire Department and St. Jude Children's Hospital. To view Don's video tribute or to leave online condolences, visit www.oakshinesfuneralhome.com. Oaks-Hines Funeral Home and Crematory in Elmwood is in charge of arrangements.

Everett Staffeldt

FARMINGTON – Everett Staffeldt was born Jan. 10, 1932, to Frank Staffeldt and Mary Staffeldt, née Bau-man. Raised in Naperville, Ill., he spent many hours on the DuPage River where he learned to appreciate the outdoors and its wildlife, documenting his observations through notes and drawings.

At 24, Everett married Arlene Turner, née Staffeldt. He adopted Arlene’s four children from her first marriage, and the couple had two children of their own.

Everett served in the United States Marine Corps, spending a year in Japan. He earned a bachelor’s degree in Biology at North Central College in Naperville, IL and later attended Northern Illinois University. He worked at Argonne National Laboratory in radiation biology, aging experiments and cancer research for nearly 30 years. His work also included supervising and educating teachers and college students who desired to pursue other medical fields. Additionally, Everett performed some of the necropsies on animals from the Brookfield Zoo.

During his lifetime, Everett had many interests, including reading, performing in men’s chorus and barber-shop chorus, playing the saxophone for the Naperville Municipal Band, hunting, fishing, taxidermy, painting, carving birds, as well as making rock-ing horses and other toys for his grandchildren. He was a self-taught artist and has taught many people how to carve and do taxidermy. Seminary students from Naperville and some of his wife’s high school students were among his pupils. Thursday night was taxidermy session at the Staffeldt’s kitchen table! In 1978, his skills were honored when he was selected to paint the Illinois Migratory Waterfowl stamp.

After retiring in 1988, Everett and Arlene moved to a 185-acre property near Farmington, Ill., to reclaim the land from coal mining by planting tens of thousands of trees, reestablishing original Illinois prairie plants and creating habitat for wildlife. In 2012, the two were awarded Wildlife Landowner of the Year, Region 1, from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, in recognition of outstanding achievements in the development of wildlife habitat.

Everett passed away on June 24, 2022, at the age of 90. His cremains will be placed in a dapple grey rocking horse of his own creation. He is survived by his wife, Arlene and their 6 children, Georgene (William) Hawkins, Renee Staffeldt, William (Darlene) Staffeldt, Kristine (Bruce) Ogonowski, Brandt Staffeldt and Michael Staffeldt, along with 7 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Condolences may be left at www.sedgwickfuneralhomes.com.
