Brimfield parents speak out against school curriculum

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

BRIMFIELD – Some parents of Brimfield School District fifth-graders believe some of their children’s reading assignments are inappropriate based on age.

For about an hour during a school-board meeting Nov. 16, parents and others criticized selections from Wit & Wisdom. It’s an English Language Arts curriculum produced by Great Minds, a Washington, D.C.-based public-benefit corporation.

Almost all of at least eight who addressed the board said assigned passages from Wit & Wisdom books overemphasized violence, murder, racism, cannibalism and promiscuity, among other things. The newly adopted curriculum is for fifth-through-eighth-grade students.

“I don’t think everything has to be sunshine and rainbows,” said one parent, Heather Donnelly. “But ... if it’s going to be the same repetitive doom and gloom and death and gore, I don’t feel like that’s appropriate, even for my eighth-grader.”

District officials defended the curriculum but also suggested it wasn’t perfect.

“There’s things we’ll learn that we’ll tweak and do differently, perhaps,” Superintendent Tony Shinall said after the meeting, which about 30 attended. “But I trust the people who made the recommendations to vet curriculum. And those are our principals and teachers.”

Among the Wit & Wisdom works mentioned during the meeting was “Thunder Rolling in the Mountains” by Scott O’Dell and Elizabeth Hall. The book fictionalizes the Nez Perce War fought in 1877 between Native Americans and the U.S. Army.

Parent Holly Greer told the board her fifth-grade son was assigned passages to read aloud three to five times a day for a week, then reflect on them.

Greer said one passage described a soldier shooting a pregnant woman in the chest and her shooting him in the face. Another described children making masks of dead soldiers, with severed ears and with eyes hanging off their cheeks.

“Nothing about this enabled my son to be more fluent, enabled him to write strong paragraphs,” parent Lindsey Birkel said. “It was very fearful, it was very violent and it was very graphic. And he does not need to be exposed to that.”

Other Wit & Wisdom books focus on white people’s mistreatment of various cultures and races, according to Greer.

“Is this really a good idea, to have a constant stream of fifth-

PRINCEVILLE – The Princeville School District is taking “shop local” to heart this holiday season. Or “dine local,” more accurately.

District employees are to receive $50 gift cards for The Feed Store, a Princeville restaurant that opened last year. According to School Board President Darwin Stahl, the purpose is two-fold – to reward employees and to support a local business.

“We have had problems keeping a restaurant in Princeville in the past,” Stahl said during a board meeting Nov. 15. “Keep it local that way, and keep a restaurant in town.”

The Feed Store shares space with Country Feed & Supplies, an agricultural business.

Last year, the district gave its BRIMFIELD – It didn’t take Keith Sherman long to realize how much people in Brimfield appreciate the mural on the west side of the building he and brother Curtis Sherman have owned since 1976.

“Every time I painted (the wall) over the last 45 years, people would stop by and say, ‘Are you going to paint over the mural?’” Keith recalled. “I finally got smart and put up signs saying, ‘We are only painting the wall.’ If we would have painted over the mural, we would have been tarred and feathered and run out of town.”

FARMINGTON – The City of Farmington will be looking for a new city administrator after Monday’s meeting, but may not have a new mayor after the April 4 election.

City Administrator Rollen Wright tendered a letter of resignation to the city council prior to Monday’s meeting and will retire from his position effective Dec. 22. Wright, 63, has been administrator since 2009 and prior to that worked three years as public works superintendent.

“This is the hardest decision I have made since we closed our family business on October 31, 2006,” Wright said in his letter.

Wright said he has a vacation

BRIMFIELD: Curriculum fulfills state standards

grade books point out only one race’s flaws without re-deeming characteristics?” she said.

Brimfield Grade School Principal Julie Albritton said the Wit & Wisdom selections fulfill state education standards. Some of the passages probably weren’t suitable for use in class, Albritton suggested, but the books were an improvement over anthologies the district was using.

Albritton also said some parents might be taking some passages out of context.

“This is probably the best curriculum I’ve seen in 23 years – the best writing, the best conversation, the most engagement in our students’ classrooms,” Albritton said.

Shinall said he’s received a handful of recent emails from parents complaining about Wit & Wisdom. Albritton appears to have received more than that.

“My whole week has been responding to emails about this and misconceptions,” she said. “I can’t be bombarded. I haven’t gotten to my job in over a week.”

In Board Member Mark Bell’s opinion, a different program of studies might have elicited fewer adverse responses.

“I don’t know why we’re using a curriculum that is going to cause a lot of strife,” he said. “It’s a distraction from learning. There’s lots of curriculums out there. If this book was read in ninth or 10th grade, I don’t think you’d have a single problem. There’s obviously some disconnect here.”

The literature issue wasn’t the only complaint audience members had. Several decried formation of a support group for LGBTQ high school students that meets on campus. According to Shinall, the group was formed in response to a student survey.

“I’m not advocating hate for anyone at all,” said Matt Gillespie, who also said he isn’t a high school parent. “I am asking today that we as a district stop the support of sexual perversion.”

Gillespie appeared to find an ally in Board Member Patrick Meyer, who also questioned the Wit & Wisdom passages.

“Where do we draw the line?” Meyer said. “I understand inclusion, but there is a time and a place for school and education, and there is a time and a place for other things. This is not the place to have that.”

Shinall said the LGBTQ group is voluntary. Its existence would continue to be assessed, as will be Wit & Wisdom.

Board President Steve Updyke praised the give-and-take about the curriculum, although he indicated it might be more appropriate at a parent-teacher level.

“As a board, we don’t get involved in day-to-day lesson plans. (But) we want to know what’s going on,” Updyke said. “We do not want a divisive curriculum at all. Just have a serious conversation with the teachers.”

Of cold deer hunting & ‘lame’ cartoons

When you sit in a tree for three frigid, windy days – waiting on a buck that’s smart enough to stay snuggled in a low, grassy spot – your mind has to keep busy somehow.

At what age do people quit climbing trees? Seriously. Some humans, like my second boy, are part monkey when young, climbing any tree they encounter. Why do they stop? ... Why do I have such dislike for Elon Musk? Is it the smirk? The fact he’s so rich? Someone once told me that one in three of us on earth are actually aliens. If that’s true, and I really struggle with the concept, Musk is one of the aliens. ... It’s a shame Tom Brady is having a tough year. First the messy retirement, un-retirement. Then the divorce. Now he lost part of his empire to crypto-currency investments that he urged others to make. Seems it’s a better thing to retire than to toil long enough for folks to realize you are a spoiled narcissist. ... Isn’t it a disservice to true miners to call the creation of crypto-currency “mining?” I much prefer the term “faking” crypto-currency? ... Why won’t my latest Buck dog pick up pheasants? He will retrieve anything you throw – unless it has feathers, which kind of defeats the purpose of a dog going hunting.

If we ever get a real population of mountain lions in Illinois, will that cut down on deer-hunting participation? Not because of fewer deer, but because of the unnerving feeling of walking in darkness, knowing that a big cat could be sitting above, watching. ... If we start a native plant seed exchange next November at the Salem Township Library in Yates City, will anyone attend?

Ahh, deer season. What a weird fall. When the wind hasn’t been whistling 20-40 mph, it has been blowing out of the east. Those are not ideal conditions. Wind and cold was even worse during last weekend’s shotgun season and had plenty of hunters grumbling. Look for harvest totals to be down. Opening morning provided me a glimpse into what surely happened plenty of other places. Sitting in a stand, I saw a small doe stand up in her bed, eat some grass and snuggle back down in the thick grass. She did this three times, just 30 yards away from me. When I finally climbed down, with her watching, the doe never budged. She was warm. I was not. ... But on the list of things to be thankful for during this holiday week is an abundance of whitetails in our state. Even during a difficult gun season, giant bucks wandered into bad situations, including the impressive 7x7 typical buck (above right) shot by Trevor Henderson and displayed on the Illinois Whitetails Facebook page. ... Hey, there’s enough big bucks in Illinois that even insurance salesman Scott Jehle of Elmwood bagged a 13-pointer with a nifty drop tine.

Watch for changes to our comics next week. A consideration in our decision was this postcard message from Kathleen Abel: “I do the Crypto-quote, but my week doesn’t hang on it. I feel more strongly about the comic strips, which are all lame. Anything would probably be an improvement.” ... Then there was Wayne Bitner who said he enjoys our trivia questions, but disputed one that claimed six states border the Great Lakes. Bitner is correct: the answer is eight states. If this created any family conflict among spouses who do the trivia together, we apologize. ... Parting shot: Elmwood’s Dick Schrimp likes to remind folks now and then that, “This country is established as a representative republic and not as a democracy!”

Memories of camping along the Mississippi River

As widespread rains begin to slowly refill lakes, reservoirs, and rivers, Thanksgiving thoughts turn back to the southern Illinois dairy farm of my youth where the Mississippi River, just a mile from our dairy barn, was a constant, often dominating presence.

Except, that is, in the late summer months when everything around the farm – cows, hired men, and even the river – moved in a slow granny gear.

That was especially so on Saturday evenings where nearly 100 panting Holsteins and an airless milking parlor promised a sweaty session of steamy drudgery.

Those languid Saturdays were, however, the perfect time for two young adventurers, my older brother David and me, to ask our overheated mother if we could “go camp on the river.”

It was a rhetorical question: Two fewer sulking teenagers for supper and another long night in an un-air conditioned farm house? The answer came quickly, “Go!”

Like most Tom Sawyers, we traveled light. Two cotton sleeping bags, some frozen hot dogs, potato chips, butter, a handful of sliced bread, a black skillet and a half-dozen eggs were breakfast, supper, and sleep. A rinsed chlorine jug from the dairy barn held a gallon of water and, of course, we each carried a pocket knife and matches.

We never took a tent because we didn’t have a tent.

Ten minutes later we were crossing the heifer pasture to climb the levee that shouldered the western bank of the Kaskaskia River. Our “trail” was the levee and its biggest danger was a sleepy dry cow or two blocking the way.

When the Kaskaskia levee married the Mississippi River levee, David and I left it for a short hike through a forest of silver maples, rattling cottonwoods and swaying willows.

Adventurous as it sounds – and it was for us – the simple geographic fact remained that had we backtracked to the levee, we could have easily seen the dairy barn, dry cows and Mom’s clothesline in the distance.

Still, we were in the middle of our own personal kingdom, a massive sandbar at the meeting point of the brown, lazy Kaskaskia River and the wide, roiling Mississippi. Here was enough driftwood for an all-night fire and acres of sugary sand on which to make our starlit beds.

In no time at all we were Marquette and Joliet, or Lewis and Clark, risking our sacred lives, used baling twine and fast-melting butter by walking through a forest of ancient trees, uncharted creeks and hordes of hot dog-hungry opossums and raccoons.

And we were free; the kind of free that farm boys only felt when there were no cows or alfalfa fields within sight. We were buccaneers on a free-flowing river with the freedom to go anywhere.

Except into the water. Our mother’s only condition to get us out of her frazzled hair was no swimming in either the Kaskaskia, a lazy, oversized creek most summers, or the broad, secretive Mississippi.

And we never did. Honest. But we explored the nearby woods, ran barefoot through the sand and sat for long silent minutes watching the Mississippi flow around the next bend.

Supper was hot dogs roasted on the end of sharpened willow branches. Breakfast was eggs cracked, scrambled, and eaten from the skillet, and toast made over the still-hot fire. Butter-soaked, both.

Nights were the best, though. We always made a roaring campfire to ward off all things real and imagined.

Often we were awakened by tow-boats’ drumming diesel engines as they clawed their way up the Big River’s strong current. Other times their powerful searchlights, looking for channel markers, lit our camp like the noon sun.

The next morning, after more dangerous deep-woods explorations and less dangerous sandbar sitting, we’d slowly make our way home. Somehow we always arrived a few minutes after the rest of the family had departed for church, another sweat-dripping event we never regretted missing.

Now, though, that would be a small price to pay for two old men to meet back on Old Man River for one more starlit, lazy night amid the sand, willows and memories.

Happy Thanksgiving.

Toulon man pleads guilty to child porn charges

By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post

PEORIA – In a dark, cold corridor in the U.S. Courthouse Thursday morning, Jason Musselman exchanged hugs and tears with his parents.

Less than one hour later, Musselman was handcuffed and led out of Courtroom A by two U.S. Marshals after pleading guilty to three felony child pornography charges.

Musselman pleaded guilty to production, distribution and possession of child pornography and now faces 15-30 years in a federal prison, according to his attorney Kevin Sullivan of Peoria.

Judge James E. Shadid scheduled Musselman’s sentencing for March 23, at 10 a.m. Shadid also cautioned Musselman that, “the sentence imposed could be different than any estimate Mr. Sullivan has given you.”

Shadid said the maximum sentence for Musselman would be not more than 60 years and not more than $750,000 in fines.

Sullivan said by pleading guilty, Musselman effectively cut the maximum sentence in half to 30 years. Sullivan said he did not believe Musselman would face the $750,000 in fines.

Musselman will be held in a jail until his sentencing date. Sullivan said he was uncertain where Musselman would be held, noting that the U.S. Marshals contract with several Illinois correctional facilities.

FARMINGTON: Stufflebeam will run for

planned with his family to Hawaii after his retirement.

“We accept this resignation with regret,” said Acting Mayor Kenn Stufflebeam, who plans to start the search for Wright’s replacement immediately.

Stufflebeam also confirmed after Monday’s meeting that he will run for mayor. After stepping up following Kent Kowal’s resignation on May 1, Stufflebeam said he was a temporary fill-in and quoted the number of meetings he had left to serve.

That changed recently and he said, “it just seems like the right thing to do.”

Farmington will also have four alderman positions up for election on April 4, including two in Ward 3 and one each in Wards 1 and 2.

Those planning to run should be aware of a change to previously released election filing dates. The first day to file petitions for the election is Dec. 12 at 8 a.m. and the last day to file petitions is Dec. 19 by 4 p.m. Dec. 27 is the last day for a local official to certify candidates with the county.

In other business, the council approved the purchase of a 2023 Dodge Ram 1500 pickup as the city’s new K-9 vehicle. The truck costs $38,580, less than the cost of a new squad car according to Wright, but once fully equipped will cost $57,715.50.

Police Chief Chris Darsham said money for the new vehicle comes from “officer-generated money” from tickets and other fees, not from tax dollars.

Darsham said the plan is to take out of service and sell two current police vehicles, 2013 and 2015 Ford Interceptors.

The council also OK’d using funds from the federal CARES act to pay for Christmas bonuses for city staffers: $600 for full-timers and $300 for part-timers.

A total of $10,000 was also approved to be set aside for employee bonuses in 2023 and 2024.

Herb Stufflebeam reported to the council that the Oak Ridge Cemetery Board of Managers is planning to redo entrances to the cemetery and is seeking input on “what people want the cemetery entrance to look like.”

PRINCEVILLE: Gift cards

workers $100 Visa gift cards. According to Superintendent Shannon Duling, the amount reflected the board’s desire to reward employees for their hardships during the coronavirus pandemic. Total cost for gift cards will be about $7,000, Duling said.

Among action items, the board approved the district tax levy for the 2023 fiscal year. The district is to levy $5,371,776, an increase of about $233,000 over the previous fiscal year.

Taxable assessed property value in the district is expected to be about $108.8 million, an increase of almost $6 million from last fiscal year. That’s a departure from the usual stability, according to Duling.

“I think the housing market has driven up a lot of the (value) on a lot of those homes,” he said. “I think it’s going to drop, because the market’s going to bail out. But I think we’ll have one more year where the market is fairly high.”

The board also authorized a five-year extension for Go Math!, a Houghton Mifflin Harcourt-produced curriculum used at the grade school. The price is about $45,000, some $2,700 more than a three-year option.

Regarding personnel, the board approved Brett Williams as a high school assistant baseball coach; approved an extended-leave request for second-grade teacher Kahlia Metz; and approved stipends of $6,000 for Luisa Horton-Meza, $5,000 for Stephanie Baysingar and $1,500 for Kelly Elwell for taking over the daycare-director duties.

The board also OK’d a five-year contract renewal with Tracy Strebel as a district innovative-practices coach and the coordinator of its Illinois Multi-Tiered System of Support process.

Strebel helps Princeville teachers improve instructional strategies and helps struggling students.

PUBLIC RECORD

NOTE: Charges are merely an accusation. All suspects are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Police reports

• YATES CITY – A garage at the east edge of Yates City was destroyed Sunday in a fire. Firefighters were called about 12:30 p.m. to 415 Knox Road 2300 E., where the one-car garage was ablaze. The garage was detached but close to a house, said John McKinty, chief of the Elba-Salem Fire Protection District.

The homeowner was charging batteries inside the wood-frame garage, McKinty said. That led the chief to believe the fire source was electrical. “It got hot fast,” he said. “The wind helped us, because it was blowing away from the house somewhat.”

No vehicles were inside the garage. Heat from the flames caused plastic to melt on the front of a nearby vehicle, McKinty said. The house sustained minor damage from a fire that took about 30 minutes to douse. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

• EDWARDS – An Edwards man threatened his wife and first responders, then grabbed a deputy’s neck during a drunken confrontation, according to authorities. Robert W. Markham, 45, was arrested following the incidents, which took place about midnight Nov. 15 at his residence in the 10200 block of W. Knox St.

When Peoria County Sheriff’s Office deputies arrived, they found Markham on the front porch, bleeding from his face. A pair of medics attempted to treat Markham, but he yelled at the two to get out of his house, according to a report.

After cursing the deputies and threatening to stab them, a struggle ensued. Markham grabbed a deputy and elbowed one of the medics in the chest, the report stated.

Eventually, deputies subdued and handcuffed Markham, who was taken to Peoria County Jail. Among other crimes, Markham was accused of two counts of aggravated battery to a peace officer, two counts of aggravated battery to a medical worker and two counts of aggravated assault. • WILLIAMSFIELD – A residential garage that caught fire last week in Williamsfield was deemed a total loss, according to authorities. The blaze began about 9 a.m. Nov. 15 at 129 N. Poplar St. By the time help arrived, the roof of the unattached 40-by-60-foot wood-frame garage had collapsed, according to Ty Landon, a Williamsfield Fire Protection District trustee.

“It had fire coming from every part of the building,” Landon said. Landon was uncertain what was in the three-car garage.

Firefighters from Brimfield, Elmwood and Yates City helped douse the flames in about two hours. “We’re short staffed all the time, let alone during the day during the week,” Landon said. “But we were able to get it out with the help of area departments who have the same problem we do.”

No injuries were reported. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Landon said nothing appeared suspicious.

• HANNA CITY – A dispute between temporary housemates led to one of them using a crowbar to smash the windshield of the other’s vehicle, according to authorities.

William A. Tillman, 40, of Creve Coeur was arrested in connection with the incident, which took place about 4 p.m. Nov. 19 in the 400 block of N. Carole St. in Hanna City. Tillman had been staying with someone who resides there.

According to a Peoria County Sheriff’s Office report, the victim said Tillman asked him for money for cigarettes. When the victim refused, Tillman took a crowbar to a 2003 Ford utility vehicle. Damage was estimated at $500. Tillman was accused of criminal damage to property.

• KICKAPOO – One sister performing a welfare check on another resulted in both being arrested after they fought at a Kickapoo address.

Tracy L. Boehm, 49, and Jennifer K. Sarnes, 46, were accused of domestic battery following the incident, which took place about 9:30 p.m. Nov. 19 at Boehm’s residence in the 7600 block of W. Chestnut Lane. Sarnes resides near Brimfield.

Sarnes visited after her niece told her Boehm sent a disturbing text message, a Peoria County Sheriff’s Office report stated. An argument ensued. Accounts differ, but video footage revealed Sarnes pushed Boehm to the ground outside the house. Both women sustained facial injuries.

• PRINCEVILLE – A two-vehicle collision in downtown Princeville resulted in no injuries. Shortly after 8 p.m. Nov. 10, Hope E. Allen of Princeville was driving a 2017 Ram 1500 pickup truck east on High Street when she stopped at the intersection with Walnut Avenue. As Allen proceeded into the intersection, her vehicle struck a northbound 2021 Chrysler 300 driven by Teresa L. Bouton of Princeville.

There was no stop sign on northbound Walnut Avenue, so Bouton had the right of way, according to a Peoria County Sheriff’s Office report. Her vehicle sustained front-end damage. Allen’s vehicle sustained passenger-side front-end damage.

• OAK HILL – Shortly before 6 a.m. Nov. 15, Larry E. Lingenfelter of Bartonville was driving a 2012 Chevrolet Traverse west on Illinois Route 8 near Eden Road southeast of Oak Hill when the vehicle veered off the slick pavement and rolled down an embankment. The vehicle entered brush and sustained front-end damage, according to a Peoria County Sheriff’s Office report.

• HANNA CITY – At 11:30 p.m. Nov. 17, Jodi L. Phillips, 53, of Tri-voli was driving a 2016 Ford Edge west in the 11500 block of W. Farmington Rd. when her vehicle hit a deer. The vehicle’s front bumper was missing and both headlights were broken. The deer was dispatched.

MURAL: First painting done by Brimfield art class

Continued from Page 1 and feathers away, hopefully for a long time. Since August, contractors, plasterers, painters and artists have given fresh life to the mural that depicts what downtown Brimfield looked like in 1909. Source for the mural is a postcard of the downtown from that era. Brimfield High School art teacher Bernadine Tucker and her students painted the original mural in 1977 over a 20-foot-by-80-foot brick wall that was faced with chicken wire and coated with cement and plaster. A Brimfield art class updated the mural in 2001. But of late, cracks had started showing up in the wall after water got behind the cement and plaster. "At first we thought we could repair the wall and then do the mural. But when we got into it, we realized we had to take the whole exterior down," Keith Sherman said. Dalton Construction of Elmwood handled the repair and repainting of the west wall, which was primed and painted twice. The final artistic brush work was left to Doug Hafner of Wyoming, a member of the Walldogs – artists whose murals brighten walls in many central Illinois towns and cities. Hafner also based his work on the 1909 postcard. The Shermans paid for restoring the wall, while the Brimfield Area Men's Club funded the mural. "It's a community asset," Keith said. "Hopefully now it's good for another 45 years." Curtis admitted he was at first worried about the brighter oranges and reds of the new mural.

"But it just jumps out at you. The colors are a lot brighter," Curtis said. "It turned out very nice." Curtis' other concern was fulfilling his daughter Micalena's request that the new mural incorporate a Dalmatian dog, since there was one in the old version. Hafner accomodated that request. Also added to the new mural are names of all who helped work on the previous versions. Now the wall can go back to serving as a backdrop for wedding pictures, marriage proposals and senior pictures. "It's kind of a landmark," Keith said. "Curtis and I thought it was good to leave a legacy."

The brothers are also in the process of selling their pharmacy businesses in Brimfield and Princeville to Williamsfield native Kevin Frye. Kevin is pharmacist in Brimfield while his brother, Kody Frye, is the pharmacist in Princeville. Curtis also works part-time in Brimfield. Last week, Illinois Comptroller Susana Mendoza visited the Brimfield pharmacy to discuss the state's Critical Access Pharmacy Program. Mendoza posted on Facebook, "These are community institutions where staff truly know their customers, and are there for the medically underserved. They deserve our gratitude and support." Providing a cool mural for generations to come is an added bonus.

OBITUARIES

David L. Craig

EDWARDS – The Craig family is missing the laugh of its best storyteller today. David Lee Craig went to his eternal reward Nov. 18, 2022, after a lengthy battle with cancer. His wife of 47 years, Rogene (Rennels) Craig, survives as does his son, Chad Craig, of Shepherdsville, Ky. Callie Jo, his tabby companion of recent years, will miss him dearly. He also boasted, about his lively grandpup, Frankie.

Craig

Dave was a graduate of Charleston High School and Lake Land College. His retail career spanned 50 years from a record store where he was sole proprietor, to PepsiCo, K's Merchandise and Lowes, from which he retired in 2015. He and Rogene raised their son in Quincy, Ill., but always remained connected with friends from Coles and Cumberland counties as well as their family farms.

For the last seven years, they were residents of Edwards, Ill., where most of their retirement was spent meeting wonderful neighbors and exceptional healthcare workers.

Dave was a scout leader of Troop 136 in Quincy. He served as usher, greeter and altar guild in St. James Lutheran Church. He enjoyed working with his hands, traveling with his bride, watching John Wayne movies, and spinning a good yarn. His laugh was unmistakable and contagious. No more gentle, genuine, endearing soul has ever lived.

Preceding Dave in death are his father, Oscar "Junior" Craig, mother Luanna Craig and brother, Gary Craig (sister-in-law, Judy, survives).

Great-nieces and great-nephews Kyler Rennels Lensink (Zachary), Brayden Rennels, Kendall Winnett, Koltin Winnett, Noah Craig, Willow Craig, Rana Craig and Zachary Craig will miss his wisdom and humor.

Visitation for Dave was Nov. 22 from 5-7 p.m. at Adams Funeral Chapel in Charleston, Ill. Adams also hosted the funeral service which was to be held Wednesday, Nov. 23, at 10 a.m. Interment was to follow at Bell's Cemetery in Diona, Ill.

Barbara A. Martin

POINT RICHMOND, Calif. – Barbara Ann Wakefield Martin, 78, who died Oct. 24, 2022, at her home in Point Richmond, Calif., was born in Peoria July 24, 1944, to Lewis Joseph Wakefield and Dorothy Viola Williamson Wakefield.

When Barbara was still a child the family bought a farm near the village of Eden, where she spent her childhood feeding chickens and helping her older brother milk the family’s two cows.

Later the family moved into town and Barbara attended Farmington High School, where she was graduated in 1962. She attended Southern Illinois University for a short time but dropped out and accepted an invitation from her older sister, Linda, to come to California and stay with her and her then-husband, Lynn Ludlow, who was a newspaper reporter at the San Jose Mercury.

There she met literally the boy next door, George Martin, who was studying journalism at San Jose State.

Barbara and George became friends, then fell in love and were married about a year later, Feb. 6, 1964. It was an odd courtship because Barbara had gone on a date just before leaving Illinois and had conceived a child. The boy was born Nov. 19, 1963. After her marriage Barbara attended Contra Costa College and eventually UC Berkeley where she earned a degree in History in 1974.

George and Barbara had two sons of their own, Gwilym (Michelle) of San Ramon, Calif., and grandson Cassens, and Luther (Avital) of Point Richmond and grandson Oliver. As the years went by, they always wondered what had become of Barbara’s first son, who had been whisked away and placed for adoption immediately after his birth. Barbara wrote to the adoption agency and let them know she was open to being contacted by her son. When 50 years had gone by with no news, Barbara believed she would never know what happened to her firstborn.

But then in the spring of 2015 the phone rang and it was her son, John Owen, of Sanger, Calif., whose adoptive parents had both passed away. On Mothers Day of that year Barbara was reunited with her son and his husband, Tony Diaz, at their home east of Fresno.

They had seven wonderful years together, enjoying visits, vacations and many hours of telephone calls. And Barbara got to meet her granddaughter, Julianna Whittington, and three great-grandchildren.

Barbara and George were intensely in love for 58 years. Barbara loved birding, hiking and all things nature. For more than 20 years they backpacked into the northern California mountains once or twice each summer for a week at a time, swimming in crystalline lakes, spotting birds and bears, climbing into the high country and hiking in fields of wildflowers. Annual summer visits to Camp Mather, a family camp near Yosemite National Park run by the City of San Francisco, gave their sons a love of nature to match that of their parents.

Barbara suffered from congestive heart failure and COPD for the last two years of her life, but was diagnosed with cardiac amyloidosis only on Sept. 29. Amyloid plaque is a protein that is found in the brains of Alzheimers disease patients. In the heart it is incurable and terminal.

Hospice care set her up with a hospital bed in her home. For the first week Barbara’s dear friend Mary Small moved in to care for her at night while George did daytime duty. When Mary had to leave, caretakers were hired, one for weeknights and another for weekends. George cared for her from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m. when the evening caretaker arrived. Barbara was at peace and glad to be out of the hospital.

Her final day was spent with her husband by her bedside, talking and holding hands. She was on the phone a half-hour before she passed with her “co-granny” Varda Zamir, the other grandmother of Barbara's grandson Oliver, in Hawaii, with whom Barbara had developed a close bond. She slipped away quietly at 6:05 p.m. leaving the world a darker, lonelier place. She remains in the hearts of her husband, family and many friends.

Barbara was a devoted 35-year member of Alcoholics Anonymous, where she had several sponsees over the years and was a popular speaker with her story of the adoption and reunion with her son John.

Her friends at the local fellowship held a celebration of her life on Saturday, Nov. 19, her son’s 59th birthday.

GIRLS: Princeville picks up needed post players

“We started off with a 7-0 lead and they pressed us and we kind of got back on our heels and never recovered from that to start attacking again,” Coach Gregg Meyers said. “I’d have liked to have played them later in the season, but it’s also good to play that game early so you can see what you need to work on.”

Lauren Rushing led Elmwood with 7 points vs. Canton and Liv Meyers added six points and nine rebounds. Elmwood (1-1) bounced back in the second half of its next game on Saturday at the Brimfield Thanksgiving Tournament. Leading by just two points at halftime against Midwest Central, Elmwood got on a roll and led by as many as 20 points in the second half of its 54-38 victory.

“In the second half we hit shots and got a nice lead and were able to play more people,” Meyers said.

Melody Glenn led the Lady Trojans with 21 points, including five 3-pointers, while Liv Meyers added 9 points and 9 rebounds, Rushing scored 8 and Ainsley Faulkner had 7 points, 7 steals and 6 assists.

Elmwood returned to tournament play Wednesday against Kewanee, then was to play Princeville Friday at 12:30 p.m. and awaits a Saturday opponent based on pool play.

Farmington

The Lady Farmers started 0-3 at the Fulton County Tournament last week, falling to North Fulton, Lewistown (40-25) and South Fulton (47-46).

The South Fulton loss was a tough one for Farmington, as leading scorer Kyleigh Miller drove the length of the floor, but had a layup roll out at the buzzer.

“The first couple games we struggled to score. Just the speed of the game and the physicality really surprised them,” Coach Brad Whitcomb said of his team, whose lone returnee with starting time is Anna Webel.

Farmington fell to IVC on Monday, 37-31. Miller led with nine points and Mariah Hayden added seven.

Princeville

A lack of depth in the post showed in Princeville’s first two games, both losses, in which the Lady Princes were hurt inside.

Brimfield’s Ava Heinz had 19 in a 44-24 win and Tremont’s 5-foot-11 Whitney Rumbold put up 29 (including 20-for-22 free throw shooting) on Thursday in a 50-42 win. Destinee Harwood led Princeville with 21 points.

Help is on the way, though, as Coach John Gross said he has a sophomore and a junior post player who have opted to come out, boosting the team to 14 players. That will allow for JV games starting with a Nov. 30 matchup against Stark County.

“We’ve gotten better this past week. A couple of extra kids makes a big difference,” Gross said. “We were with Tremont through three quarters but lost two post players to foul trouble.”

Princeville (1-2) rebounded Monday with a 64-38 win over Kewanee at the Brimfield tournament. Harwood led with 21 points, while Kinley McGinn and Brianna Brodie scored 14 apiece and Paisley Schock tallied 13.

Gross missed the game with the flu and said he has missed three games in his lengthy coaching career – all in the last 10 games for Princeville.

Princeville was to play Midwest Central on Wednesday in the Brimfield tourney and then faces Elmwood at 12:30 Friday before learning its Saturday foe.

ROWVA-Williamsville

R-W (3-1) rattled off three straight wins to finish 3-1 in the Ridgewood-R-W tournament, won by Monmouth-Roseville.

Last Saturday, R-W beat Mercer County 43-32. Avery Rigg led with 14 points, including 10 in the fourth quarter as R-W blew open a 25-24 third-quarter lead. Lizzie Johnston also scored 10.

Last Friday, R-W topped United 40-27 as Carolyn German led with 15 points and Rigg added 10.

And the Lady Cougars topped visiting Bushnell-Prairie City on Nov. 16, 47-23. German led a balanced attack with 13, while Johnston added 12 and Emma Seiboldt scored 10.

R-W was to play at Rockridge on Tuesday.

BOYS BKB: Four core players back for ROWVA-Williamsfield

Central and Quincy Notre Dame are among the opponents. Lozier sees Elmwood and Macomb as primary Prairieland challengers.

“My biggest concern is lack of playing time last year on varsity for the juniors and some of the seniors,” Lozier said. “I’m looking forward to seeing this team create its own identity.”

Farmington’s first home game is Nov. 29 against Tremont.

Brimfield

Following a one-year failed attempt at basketball retirement, Scott Carlson returns to a Brimfield program he coached for 24 seasons. They included 495 victories and a 2015 Class 1A state title.

Carlson is rebuilding a bit from a 16-10 team that returns only one player who received quality playing time. But Oliver Heinz isn’t a bad returnee to have. The 6-4 senior forward averaged 15 points per game, was a first-team all-Inter-County selection and was a second-team Prairieland pick.

“It is a young squad,” Carlson said. “I think it’s a young, excited group that’ll be anxious to learn.”

Aside from Heinz, the only seniors on the Brimfield roster are guard Jesse Dawson and forward Konsta Hamalainen, an exchange student from Finland.

Carlson is looking for good things from junior shooting guard Drew Kieser, hobbled last season by a knee injury, and sophomore point guard Brady Johnson. He is among four sophomores on the roster.

“Experience is where we need to improve, which will come as the season goes,” Carlson said. “We have guys who can flat-out score, but (we’re) thin in the depth department.”

As usual, Brimfield opened with its week-long Turkey Tournament. The Indians broke away from Princeville in the fourth quarter Monday night to win 69-59. Heinz scored 26 for the winners, including 14 in the final quarter.

Brimfield played a tournament game Tuesday night against Tremont. The Indians also play Friday against Midwest Central at 5 p.m. and Saturday against Knoxville at 6:30.

Elmwood

The initial challenge for Elmwood is to replace the top two scorers from a team that finished 17-12. The graduated Andrew Marincic and Victor Lenzi averaged 19.2 and 10.6 points per game, respectively. The 6-6 Lenzi also averaged 6 rebounds.

But Trojans Coach Josh Fugitt has five returnees who started at some point in 2021-22. That group includes a trio of seniors: 5-10 guard Zach Howerton (6.1 ppg), 6-3 forward Brayden Lehman (6.1 ppg) and 6-3 guard/forward Brendan Williams (2.7 ppg). Lehman also was the team’s second-leading rebounder (5.1 rpg).

Junior guard Layne Durst (4 ppg) and sophomore guard/forward Bo Windish (6.2 ppg) also were occasional starters. That five-some will be reinforced by three junior newcomers – 6-3 forward Jimmy Babcock, 6-1 guard/forward Jackson Magee and 5-9 guard Sirius Nims.

Oliver Heinz averaged 15 ppg last year to lead Brimfield. Photo by Collin Fairfield.

Fugitt praised his team’s work ethic and effort so far but said rebounding and communication can improve.

“I expect us to struggle early in the season,” Fugitt said. “But I’m excited to see the development that our juniors will make this season, and we’re looking forward to the team we will be in February.”

Elmwood opened Monday night with a 58-38 loss to Putnam County in the Wally Keller Invitational at Wethersfield in Kewanee. Howerton had a team-high 12 points and Babcock scored 10. The Trojans played Tuesday against Bureau Valley and Wednesday vs. Annawan. They face Wethersfield on Friday at 7 p.m. and Stark County on Saturday at 5:30.

Princeville

Second-year Princeville Coach Tait Sennett is looking to a core group of juniors and seniors to help improve upon an 11-15 record in his first season.

Zach Howerton will be looked on to help replace Elmwood’s top two scorers. Photo by Collin Fairfield.

That gang of four consists of seniors Marcus Daily and Jordan Johnson, and juniors Tayshaun Kieser and Zach Stalter.

Johnson is returning from injury, but Daily averaged two rebounds and almost five points per game in 2021-22. Kieser is the leading returning scorer and rebounder (6.3 points, 3.5 boards). Stalter averaged 5.7 points.

Kieser and Johnson are the Princes’ outside threats, according to Sennett. Daily and Stalter are to anchor the middle.

Princeville lost four regular starters from last season, but underclassmen worked into the lineup late in the year, according to Sennett. “We will look for team hustle and defense to help win games,” he said. “We will run various offenses to get players in position to score.”

After a season-opening 69-59 loss Monday night to Brimfield at the Turkey Tournament, the Princes played Wednesday against Midwest Central. Kieser had a team-high 12 points in the opener.

Princeville continues Brimfield-tourney play Friday against Knoxville at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday against Tremont at 5.

ROWVA-Williamsfield

The ageless wonder, Bob Anderson, is back for his 44th season as head coach. Given the talent on this R-W squad, Anderson might stick around for a 45th.

R-W returns four of its core players from last season’s 16-16 team. Seniors Graham Wight and Adam Kohl are joined by two juniors, Riley Danner and Lewis Sams. Wight, a 6-4 senior, was the Cougars’ top scorer (18 ppg).

A couple of Galva transfers might help R-W, too. Junior Braxton Rylander is now at ROWVA and sophomore Talan Hull transferred to Williamsfield.

Overall, the R-W roster is deep (16 players) and athletic. That’s something Anderson hasn’t always had in a career spent entirely in Williamsfield.

Danner, Kohl, Sams and Wight were keys on a R-W football team that reached the second round of the Class 1A playoffs. Other football-basketball players include senior Grant Erlicher and juniors Gage Aldred and Jack Godsil.

“We’ll have to run the floor well if we want to be successful,” R-W Assistant Coach Jeff Hannam said. “We will also have to be strong on the defensive end of the floor.”

If that all comes to pass, R-W could challenge Illini Bluffs and Peoria Christian for Inter-County supremacy and Mercer County and Princeville in the Lincoln Trail. Last season, R-W was 3-4 in the ICAC and 7-4 in the LTC.

The Cougars opened Monday with an 82-34 victory over Galva in the R-W Invitational. Danner had 19 points, and Sams and Wight had 10. R-W played Tuesday vs. Port Byron Riverdale. Tourney games for R-W continue Friday at Oneida vs. West Central at 6:30 p.m. and Saturday at Billtown vs. Henry at 1 p.m. and United at 5:30.

ALL-SPORTS ROUNDUP

Renken, Wight earn IHSFCA all-state football honors

For The Weekly Post

Farmington senior quarterback Gage Renken and ROWVA-Williamsfield senior offensive lineman Graham Wight were selected for the Illinois High School Football Coaches Association all-state teams. Renken made the Class 2A team and Wight the Class 1A first team.

Elmwood-Brimfield senior linebacker Slone Windish and senior lineman Caleb Hollis were honorable-mention picks in Class 3A and Princeville’s Kellen Francis was honorable mention in Class 1A.

Other players picked who are familiar to area teams include:

- Class 1A – Stark County senior DB/K Daniel Kieser; honorable mention for Rushville-Industry senior RB/LB Ben Jessup.
- Class 2A – Honorable mention for Knoxville TE/P Braden Downs.
- Class 4A – Macomb junior WR JT Jeter and honorable mention to senior QB Jack Duncan.

- Basketball – In IESA 7th grade girls basketball action, top-seed Stark County was to play No. 2 seed Williamsfield Tuesday night for a Class 7-2A regional title at Brimfield. In the semifinals, Stark County beat Brimfield 11-9 and Williamsfield topped Elmwood, 28-13. Farmington lost to IVC in the 3-A semifinals.
- State champs – West Central (13-0) won the Illinois 8-Man Football Association state title last Friday, topping Amboy, 44-36.

Farmington boys eager for encore

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

Last season, the Farmington boys basketball team won the Prairieland Conference, advanced to a Class 2A sectional title game and finished with a 25-7 record. This season, the Farmers return many of their top players from that team.

What can they do for an encore? Farmington Coach Marty Lozier appears eager to find out.

“I’m excited about this team,” Lozier said.

Excitement began in earnest Monday night in Cuba, home of this year’s Fulton County Tournament. Farmington beat South Fulton 58-25 behind a game-high 21 points from senior point guard Logan Morse. The Farmers played Tuesday against Havana. Their tournament run continues Friday against North Fulton and ends Saturday against Lewis-town.

Lozier hopes to build on last year’s success behind Morse and junior Keauntrey Barnes. Morse, the team captain, averaged 11 points and 3.5 steals per game last season.

“Unbelievable athleticism and a high-motor kid,” Lozier said. “He and Logan Morse is back to help lead a Farmington basketball team that last year reached the sectional final and finished 25-7. Photo by Dave Giagnoni.

Keauntrey were arguably our best players at the end of last year.”

The 6-foot-6 Barnes averaged 11.5 points, six rebounds and two steals. In this season’s opener, he scored 11. Lozier called Barnes the Farmers’ most dominant player, who honed his skills playing summer AAU ball.

“He’s explosive and can jump out of the gym,” Lozier stated. “Some of the things we have seen already in practice show how athletic he can be this year.”

Senior shooting guard Kyle Litchfield started one game last year before he broke his wrist. Senior guard Kayden Runyon was the top player off the bench. He had three 3-pointers in the first quarter Monday to help Farmington lead 23-10.

Senior Gage Renken was an occasional starter last season. Forward Sam Gronewald and point guard Zac Taylor are top newcomers.

Winning a regional again is the goal this season, and Farmington has toughened its non-conference schedule in that pursuit. Bloomington Central Catholic, Class 3A Champaign

Brimfield girls start hoops season strong

By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post
New players. New coach. Same winning results for girls basketball fans in Brimfield.

Through three games, new coach Josh McKown has the defending Class 1A state champions off to a strong 3-0 start that includes a buzzer-beating 3-pointer Monday night.

“I’m proud of the way the girls have started and they are playing hard, which is what I wanted,” McKown said. “And I’m excited about the direction we’re going.”

Senior Elly Doe hit the game-winning 3-pointer Monday to top Tremont, 36-35. A starter on last year’s title team, Doe led the Indians with 15 points in the opener of Brimfield’s Turkey Tournament.

Aside from Doe, most contributors so far this season are relatively fresh faces. One of the best has been sophomore center Ava Heinz, who posted double-doubles in her first two games and led the Lady Indians past Princeville (44-24) and West Prairie (70-24) on Thursday.

Heinz had 19 in the opener against the Lady Princes and then tallied 19 as one of four Brimfield players in double figures against West Prairie. Doe added 12 points, CJ Troxell scored 11 and Olivia Kappes tallied 10. Heinz also had 11 vs. Tremont.

“She’s only a sophomore so I think she has a lot of potential,” McKown said of Heinz. “We do a pretty good job of finding her and she gets points off of offensive put-backs, too.”

Brimfield was to face Knoxville Tuesday, then plays Kewanee Wethersfield on Friday and Saturday’s foe depends on overall results at the tournament.

Elmwood

A much-awaited season for the Lady Trojans started with a disappointing 44-24 loss at Canton.
