Elmwood eyes parking proposal

North side of E. Main St. could see ban in 200 block

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

ELMWOOD – On-street parking just east of downtown Elmwood is likely to become scarcer soon.

The city intends to mail notices to residents on the north side of the 200 block of E. Main St. regarding a proposal to ban parking in that area. Parking on the south side still would be permitted.

Alderman Bob Paige cited visibility and traffic flow as reasons for the proposed on-street parking prohibition.

“Right now with parking on both sides, it’s very hard to get through there and let somebody else get through,” he said during a City Council meeting on Aug. 5.

Traffic in that area has been a council concern for a while. Stop signs on Main Street at Rose Street were installed not long ago to try to mitigate problems.

Most of the houses along the proposed

Princeville pumped for pricy project

PRINCEVILLE – A long-anticipated sewer-and-wastewater improvement project in Princeville probably will begin by the end of August.

Both pumping stations in the village are to be replaced and two excess-flow lagoons are to be constructed, among other work. Most of it is to take place at the village sewer plant along Woertz Road, according to Chad Gardner, the Princeville superintendent of public works.

Princeville residents and visitors probably won’t notice much disruption, Gardner said. Construction might cause temporary closures of Blanchard Street and St. Mary Ave-

New members, new ideas meshing on Elmwood City Council

By MOLLY RICHESON
For The Weekly Post

ELMWOOD – The makeup of the Elmwood City Council changed dramatically this year.

Three new council members were elected last during the spring consolidated election: Julie Davis, Kristen Strom and Tim Teel.

A fourth new member, Kristy Johns, was appointed by new Mayor Andrew Almasi, who gave up his council seat.

Here are brief biographies of the four new council members.

Julie Davis

Davis, an alderman in Elmwood’s Ward 2, was born and raised in Elmwood. She graduated from Elmwood High School in 1989 before attending Illinois Central College. She earned a bachelor’s degree in healthcare administration from Midstate College.

Currently, she performs vascular and general ultrasounds full-time for Carle Health in its cardiovascular clinic while also working at least once a month as a PRN (as-needed nurse) for Hopedale Medical Complex. She’s also part of the adjunct faculty at Spoon River College. In the fall, she teaches healthcare ethics and bioethics, and in the spring she teaches phlebotomy classes.

Davis is president of Elmwood Business Women’s Association and is married to Mark Davis, a truck driver for J.B. Hunt. They have six children between the ages of 16-31 and six grandchildren.

“My family is my hobby,” Davis said

She has no prior political experience but decided to pursue this role because of her deep roots in the community.

“The political thing is kind of new to me,” she said. “I just

ELMWOOD: Sign for Meadows to cost $8,000

no-parking area have driveways, according to City Clerk Bethany Lov-ingood.

Mayor Andrew Almasi said the council probably will consider the parking ban in September.

“I think the letter is a good first step,” Alderman Tim Teel said. “It’s a safety thing. That’s the main driver, right?”

Councilors also dis-cussed a new sign being constructed to herald the entrance of The Meadows subdivision, along Illinois Route 78 at the north edge of town. The sign in the Southgate Drive median is expected to cost about $8,000. An initial estimate was $5,000. The city budgeted $10,000 last year.

“People may not like us spending that much money, but it was some-thing that was done and approved, and it was in the budget,” Almasi said.

The city removed a sign from that spot when new sidewalks were con-structed in that area. The sign fell into disrepair while in the city’s posses-sion, Almasi said last year when the council discussed replacing it. The new sign is to complement a similar sign located across Route 78 at the Fairground Acres subdivision.

Regarding action items, the council authorized a $19,920 deal with The Hitchcock Co. of Peoria to test and flush and perform inspections for five years on all 122 city fire hy-drants. Work is to be done at night, to minimize res-idents’ inconvenience.

Councilors also OK’d an agreement that allows city-owned green space at the northwest corner of Mag-nolia and Main streets to accommodate live music and alcohol service during the Elmwood Fall Festival, Sept. 4-6. Mi Ranchito res-taurant is next door and is to sell the refreshments.

In other decisions, the council:

- Authorized Whitney & Potts Ltd. of Elmwood for legal services, at $200 per hour, regarding a U.S. Department of Agriculture loan for planned impend-ing work on wastewater la-goons at Sweetwater Park. Another law firm, Gilmore & Bell of Edwardsville, was approved as bond counsel for the loan, at a flat fee of $17,500.

- Approved Peggy Gib-son and Mike Miller, both of BYE Ambulance Serv-ice, as Citizens of the Sea-son for spring. Gibson and Miller have been affiliated with BYE since it was es-tablished.
- OK’d a $4,000 outlay for expenses related to adoption of 2024 Interna-tional Building Codes. That represents one-quarter of the total cost, which is to be shared with three other communities.
- Approved closing Mag-nolia Street between Main and Hawthorne streets for an Elmwood Development Association-sponsored street party scheduled for Aug. 22.

Of Charmin week, lively towns and cemeteries

Rambling through central Illinois, eager to remind folks that summer does not end until Sept. 22. So stop saying it’s over.

• • •

Hell week is a distant memory for football players in Illinois. And while one coach suggested practices this week are as soft as Charmin toilet paper, fact is, if I had been running around in Monday’s humidity, this edition probably would never have been completed.

One thing that doesn’t change in the first week of play is optimism. And there’s still plenty of that to go around.

Princeville has 53 players out, up from recent years. Among the returnees are senior bookend offensive tackles 6-foot-3, 240-pound Collin Lowery and 5-11, 290-pound Wyatt Giffin. “He’ll probably be closer to 280 by the end of this week,” Princes Coach Jon Carruthers said of Giffin, who moves pretty well for a big guy – though not as well as Lowery, a player to watch this fall.

Elmwood-Brimfield has 58 players on the roster, including at least three valedictorians. Brains are good, but Coach Todd Hollis sees a very talented sophomore group adding support for a group otherwise slim on starting experience.

As usual, Farmington has the best turnout, with 85 Farmers facing the tall task of following up on a semifin- al finish. Quarterback is a question mark for Farmington. There are several candidates with different skills, so settling on a starter may take a few weeks.

Over at ROWVA-Williamsfield, Coach Grant Gullstrand has four starters back on offense and five on defense among 41 players who showed for practice Monday.

I’m betting there will be three playoff teams out of that group. We’ll know more once the season opens on Aug. 29.

In some cases, you can probably make a case for school consolidation. I won’t. Not after spending the past two days witnessing the buzz that builds as the start of school approaches in a small town.

Monday in Brimfield was crazed, what with a junior-high softball game and Brimfield JFL practice. No, JFL is not a school-sponsored sport, but if high school football wasn’t offered, there probably wouldn’t be JFL in Brimfield.

Brimfield’s School Board wisely added another parking lot to the athletic complex east of the school, but even that lot was full on Monday.

You can find similar levels of energy all over the area, as sports gear up and students and teachers prepare for school. Take that away and you would take the life right out of our towns.

• • •

If tomatoes don’t arrive at TWP headquarters soon, we’ll be forced to mail the championship check to Shirley Ludolph in Kickapoo. She always has a good entry. How about the rest of you? ... The late Sonny Snyder always enjoyed a good tractor pull and so it’s fitting he has one being held in his memory this Saturday. The first Sonny Snyder Memorial starts at noon during the Harvest Home

Festival in Yates City.

As a kid, I never understood old people’s fascination with visiting cemeteries. Flowers. Stones. Boring.

Life changes. With every passing day it seems more of my mind is with the dead, and my visits to cemeteries are no longer boring. Those aren’t just names carved into granite, as they once were for me. Now the names evoke memories.

Yes, pictures spark a similar response, but the emotions are deeper in a cemetery.

It’s to the point where the St. John Cemetery down the road from the old family farm is a must-visit site any time we make the trek to north-west Iowa.

There’s quite a cast of characters in that simple little country cemetery. There’s Archie Larson, who painted signs by hand, next to his wife, Irene, who had gorgeous flowers all around her home. Or Pauly Wenger, the wide-smiling, gold-toothed greeter at church. You had to brace yourself to shake hands with him every Sunday, since his farmer’s grip was so strong. And all over are various Thiemens, who built and sold their own affordable tractors from 1936-41.

Family memories run even deeper. Henry Lampe was mayor of Albert City and was still climbing a stepladder to pick apples in his 90s. His father, Frederick, came over from Germany and bought the family farm in 1892. Grandpa Elwood farmed it until the mid 1970s, calling his sale “the worst day of his life.”

Now my dad has been buried in the midst of all those familiar folks. There is comfort in that.

Melting pot boiling over with immigration

Immigration appears to be the great divide between the left and the right. In case you haven’t heard, there are no easy answers.

However, age does make one reminisce and contemplate. Hence, I shall regress about 50 years to the time I was in graduate school. Lest you think I was some nerd living off student loans, I was a full-time probation officer and attending grad school at night.

A sociology course involved world migration and especially migration to the United States. This farm boy had to stretch himself and learn some big words. I’ve never liked big words, as they seem to complicate life.

The professor liked to talk in big terms, like “acculturation” and “assimilation.” The farm boy liked a much more common and generic term: “melting pot.” It all means the same, but academics like big words.

Some technical background on the terms. Every nation has traits or a culture that give it definition or meaning. Or even a value system.

Acculturation is the process of an immigrant moving to a country and becoming familiar with and adopting the culture of that country.

Assimilation is the host country absorbing the immigrant into the country at large. Most people with common sense refer to this as a melting pot.

The United States has been able to maintain its culture – and, yes, I acknowledge that there were native Americans here first – by having two large oceans keeping massive influxes of immigrants out of the country. The U.S. developed a strong work ethic, with individual ownership of small businesses.

Add to this the freedom of religious beliefs and a system of democratic voting. Those developments were unique to the American culture, if you will. The American culture was markedly different from Europe, Asia and Africa. The U.S. developed a culture that was the envy of much of the world, and many wanted to migrate here to attain the freedoms and opportunities the country offered to all.

The key to this migration was that, while it was large, it was small in the context of the country. Those who came to the country were absorbed into the fabric of the country and sought to be members.

Illinois and specifically Chicago demonstrate this observation. If you go to Chicago, there are Greek Town, Chinatown, Polish sections, Jewish sections and other ethnic sections.

I grew up in rural Thawville, a German immigrant area, as did my father. The difference is that when my father was a child, the Lutheran Church conducted services in German. By the time I came along, the German language was forgotten and everything was in English. The vast majority of residents view themselves as Americans, not Germans. That is the melting pot at work.

Chicago demonstrates this melting-pot model. Ethnic groups have maintained their heritage with, for example, many distinct ethnic restaurants in the city.

The important factor is that the ethnic groups in Chicago, while honoring their heritage, view themselves as Americans first. They have melted into the pot, with flavors from everywhere.

The problem of the past several years is mass immigration with no vetting of those crossing the border. We have cities today that have large immigrant areas where residents don’t care for the American culture and want to maintain their traditional rules and laws, which often contravene American law.

The process of removing those who are illegally in this country is not a pleasant sight, but it must be done in some fashion, simply as a means of self-preservation. The immigrants who wish to implement radical ways are literally a cancer on the society that needs to be surgically removed.

I truly hope the U.S. can return to being the melting pot that is the envy of the world.

You, too, can step up and help replace Mit

To the Editor:

Who will replace Mit? Some will begin reading this and say “Mit who?” Others will say “of course it’s Mit Beres.”

An article by the editor in a recent issue of The Weekly Post was entitled “Of SVP, blessings and a super stud.” Comments ranged from those about Scott Van Pelt, Kent Kowal, Les Atwood, Blanche Wilson and Carroll Inskeep.

Carroll’s comments regarded an opinion, which did not agree with the editor, about which was the greatest racehorse ever. The name Bonnie Scotland was not mentioned. I am aware of this name only because my wife, Pat, and I were fortunate to visit the Belle Meade Plantation near Nashville, Tenn., a few years ago.

Some information on the horses from this horse plantation is that the bloodlines established at Belle Meade through Bonnie Scotland and other famous horses continue a legacy of speed and endurance that still dominate the thoroughbred racing scene today. My purpose is not to disagree or prove anyone wrong. For the record, I know nothing about his bloodline, but I love the movie “Secretariat.”

My purpose is to agree with the quotation of Scott Van Pelt that states: “Today is a blessing. What are you (we) prepared to do with it?”

There are many Mits in the world and no one will replace any of them. However, we have memories, records, photos, opinions and opportunities to be a Mit of our own choosing.

Princeville transferring funds

By MOLLY RICHESON
For The Weekly Post
PRINCEVILLE – The Princeville School Board authorized the transfer of $200,000 from its working-cash fund to its transportation fund in anticipation of a shortfall resulting from reduced reimbursement of transportation funds by the state.

In Fiscal Year 2025, regular education transportation was reimbursed at 79% while special-education transportation was reimbursed at 69%.

In FY26, however, regular education transportation is being reimbursed at 73%, while special-education transportation is expected to be reimbursed at 61%.

The transportation fund includes drivers’ pay, gas, the transportation director and lease payments currently due on the buses. There is a possibility that funds will need to be transferred again next year to continue to cover costs.

Earlier this spring, a dedicated group of stakeholders led by representatives of the Peoria Regional Office of Education met to shape the future of Princeville schools.

Together, they developed a new strategic plan focused on safety, academic collaboration, district culture and community and fiscal responsibility. The plan will be shared on the school’s webpage with the tagline, “Princeville Schools: Where Learning is Purposeful and Powerful.”

Included in the strategic plan is bullet-resistant window film for Phase I of the focus on school safety, a new counselor for the grade school, culturally responsive practices for a diverse community of students, balancing tax rates with staffing and student-experience needs and communication, including social media, newsletter and parent-teacher conference updates including translations.

After closed session, a number of personnel moves wwas approved. Angelina Bender will be a daycare aide, Joseph Britt is a bus driver, Courtney Moore is a bus and van driver, Alicia Vicary is a daycare teacher, Kim Bird is a district permanent substitute teacher and Courtney Crain is a grade-school paraprofessional. Jennifer Rodriguez, a daycare teacher, has resigned.

Farmington board OKs fund transfer

By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post
FARMINGTON – The Farmington School Board got a look at its Fiscal Year 2026 budget at Monday’s meeting and passed several measures to keep things running smoothly until the budget is passed next month.

In addition to granting approval to pay bills for grants through Aug. 30, the board approved a $100,000 transfer from its working-cash fund to the tort fund. Board President Alex Slack said that would help offset increases in insurance costs and telecommunication safety upgrades done last year.

A hearing on the tentative FY26 budget is set for Sept. 8 at 6:30 p.m. prior to the regular board meeting in the FCHS Research Center.

The tentative budget shows expenses of $14,895,592 and revenues of $13,918,290 for a deficit of $977,302. The estimated beginning fund balance of $15,194,480 as of July 1, 2025, would be reduced to $14,217,178 as of June 30, 2026, under the proposed budget.

Though the budget is not balanced, the state does not require a reduction plan.

The board also approved superintendent and district goals, a hazardous routes resolution and an emergency operations plan.

In personnel, the board approved hiring Brittany Arnett-Smith as an elementary school playground supervisor, Jaelyn Anderson as an elementary student facilitator, Courtney Bauman as a cafe worker, Kayla Hopple as JV volleyball coach and Ryan Sunderland as freshman class sponsor. The board also approved FMLA leaves for Jodi Shake and Jeni Fauser and acknowledged the resignation of Wendy Powell from her job as a student facilitator.

Prior to the meeting, the board also welcomed new student board member Kirk Melton.

*NOTE: Charges are merely an accusation.
All suspects are presumed innocent until proven guilty.*

Police reports

- YATES CITY – A Yates City man was arrested twice last month – first in a forgery case, then regarding an illegal-drugs accusation, among other offenses.
Elmwood police took Zachary R. Cassel, 32, into custody July 21 after he deposited suspected fraudulent checks at Farmers State Bank. The checks totaled at least $15,000, according to a police report.
Cassel was accused of bank fraud, deceptive practices, forgery, identity theft and theft of more than $500. He was released July 22 from the Peoria County Jail. A week later, Cassel was arrested again, this time in Peoria.
Per a Peoria police report, Cassel was driving a 2015 Chevrolet van when an officer stopped him shortly before 1:45 a.m. July 29 in the 1100 block of E. Nebraska Ave. The vehicle had just left a residence drug users are known to frequent.
A substance that tested positive for methamphetamine was found inside the vehicle; Cassel said he had no knowledge of it. He was accused of unlawful possession of meth, driving on a suspended license and improper turn-signal use. Cassel also was wanted in Knox County for an unspecified offense.
- EDWARDS – Fire caused about $100,000 in damage to a barn at an Edwards-area fish farm, according to authorities.
The blaze at Herman Brothers Fisheries, 3004 N. Taylor Rd., began shortly before 7:30 p.m. July 23, according to a Peoria County Sheriff's Office report.
A Herman Brothers representative said she was at her nearby residence when she saw smoke rising from the barn area but assumed it was from a neighbor burning brush. As the smoke became blacker, she drove to the area and saw the north and west sides of the barn were aflame.
Firefighters from the Bartonville, Brimfield, Limestone, Logan-Trivoli, Peoria Air Guard, Timber-Hollis and West Peoria departments responded. The fire origin did not appear to be suspicious. The Office of the Illinois State Fire Marshal was to investigate.
- DUNLAP – A 48-year-old Princeville woman was a possible victim in a domestic-battery incident in Dunlap.
Kyle Lewis, 44, of Chillicothe was arrested in connection with the incident, which happened shortly before 9:30 a.m. July 19 at a residence in the 200 block of E. Elm St., according to a heavily redacted Peoria County Sheriff's Office report.
Dispatchers reported a woman screaming in the background during an emergency call. A 36-year-old Chillicothe woman also was listed as a possible victim. Lewis was accused of domestic battery/bodily harm and interference with a report of domestic violence.
- BRIMFIELD – A Galesburg man sustained significant injuries when the motorcycle he was riding struck a deer east of Brimfield.
Michael K. Love was aboard a westbound 2023 Harley-Davidson Electra Glide Highway King shortly before 3:30 p.m. July 17 on Brimfield-Jubilee Road near Savage Road when two deer emerged from the south, according to a Peoria County Sheriff's Office report.
The motorcycle struck one of the deer and crashed to the pavement. An ambulance transported Love to OSF Saint Francis Medical Center in Peoria. Love sustained fractured ribs, a punctured lung and multiple lacerations to his face and left arm. The motorcycle sustained major damage.
- PEORIA – No injuries were reported following a two-vehicle wreck just west of the Peoria city limits that involved a Hanna City man. Timothy P. Pelka was driving an eastbound 2013 Chevrolet Malibu shortly before 5:45 a.m. July 14 on Harmon Highway when at Lincoln Avenue it collided with a 2019 Ford Fusion driven by Jacob M. Carroll of Peoria, according to a Peoria County Sheriff's Office report. Carroll was cited for disobeying a stop sign.
- HANNA CITY – Law-enforcement personnel located a mailbox reported stolen from a Hanna City-area residence and returned it to its owner.
A Peoria County Sheriff's Office deputy was summoned about 7 p.m. July 11 to the 200 block of S. Pinkerton Rd. The resident said he saw the bright-white mailbox atop its post about 8 a.m. He suspected teenagers took it for fun, according to a sheriff's-office report.
Later, prompted by a Facebook post, the deputy found the mailbox alongside the road in the 1100 block of Greengold Rd. The mailbox matched the victim's description.
- EDWARDS – An argument resulted in an Edwards man being accused of multiple crimes.
Jacob G. Stevenson, 36, was arrested at 2:30 a.m. July 11 following the incident at a residence in the 6800 block of N. Ironwood Drive, according to a Peoria police report. Officers stood outside and heard Stevenson yelling at a woman before they knocked.
A check revealed Stevenson was wanted in Fulton County for domestic battery and aggravated assault. He also was accused of obstructing justice, because he gave an officer an incorrect surname. Stevenson was transported to the Peoria County Jail.
- DAHINDA – A Galesburg woman admitted to driving into a stop sign south of Dahinda.
The downed sign on Knox Highway 15 at U.S. Route 150 was reported about 11 a.m. July 6, according to a Knox County Sheriff's Office report. Also found at the intersection was a license plate that belonged to a vehicle registered to 56-year-old Linda D. White.
When a sheriff's-office deputy contacted White at her residence, she said she was driving east about 9 a.m. on Route 150 and turning north on Highway 15 when the vehicle, a 2000 Oldsmobile Alero, struck the stop sign.
- MONICA – At 3:30 p.m. July 17, Daniel E. Dunn of Princeville was driving a northbound 2023 Honda Ridgeline pickup truck on Beall Road near Parks School Road south of Monica when the vehicle struck a deer. No injuries to Dunn were listed in a Peoria County Sheriff's report.
- BARTONVILLE – At 7:45 p.m. July 14, Sarah M. Mooberry of Hanna City was driving a 2006 Toyota Matrix east in the 9000 block of W. Smithville Rd. west of Bartonville when the vehicle struck a deer. Mooberry said she wasn't injured, according to a Peoria County Sheriff's report. The impact killed the deer.
- FARMINGTON – Dustin R. Maples, 41, of Farmington was arrested shortly after 8:15 a.m. July 28 and accused of failure to appear in court, according to the Peoria County Sheriff's Office.
- GALESBURG – These were among calls to which the Knox County Sheriff's Office responded between July 20-26: stray dog, Williamsfield; suspicious incident, Dahinda; domestic dispute, Dahinda; suspicious vehicle, Yates City; road hazard, Dahinda; road hazard, Williamsfield.

PRINCEVILLE: Mandated by EPA

nue. It also might affect sections of East Main Street.
“Nobody will see too much,” Gardner said. “A lot of it will be backstreets and alleys. We’ve kind of planned it that way. When you dig up streets, it costs more to replace.”

The project is designed to prevent Princeville residents from getting sewage in their basements during heavy rain. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency mandated the work. The state EPA also is forgiving about $1 million of the projected $6 million cost, according to Gardner.

It probably will take 12 to 18 months for the project to be completed. For Gardner, that can’t happen soon enough.

“I’ve been trying to get something moving on it for six or seven years,” he said. “I know it’s an expensive project, but I’ll just say this: I have been here 32 years, and we’ve probably pumped sewers in the streets 25 or 26 years. We had to go out and get extra pumps to try to relieve people’s basements.

“That’s exciting for me and the Public Works Department to not have to do that ever again.”

Gardner updated the Village Board during a meeting that lasted only about 20 minutes Aug 4. Regarding action items, trustees:

- Approved a $1,921.35 TIF reimbursement to B Framed Photography, 133 N. Walnut Ave., for new windows, signs and exterior paint work.

□•□OK’d a $1,000 donation to Princeville Sports Boosters.

- Authorized closure of Illinois Route 91 for the holiday-tree lighting at Stevens Square Park, scheduled for Nov. 30.

- Agreed to modify previous approval of a TIF redevelopment agreement with Princeville Pharmacy to include the name of its owner, Sherman’s Pharmacy of Brimfield.

Permits also were issued for demolition and construction of a shed at 917 N. Santa Fe Ave.

COUNCIL: Members offer varying perspectives

wanted to give part of myself back. I have the special-events committee and the Christmas lights, and that's always been near and dear to me and special to our town. It was something I felt like I could do for our community."

She has spent her time as new council member asking a lot of questions from the community. "There's a lot of things that I need to learn," she says "One of the things I would like to do this year at the Christmas Walk is opening City Hall so that people can put our names to our faces and we can get to know them. I'm just hoping to do a good job and see where it goes."

In addition to the special events committee, Davis also heads up animal control.

Kristy Johns

Johns, newly appointed to the council from Ward 2, grew up in Farmington along with her husband, Nathan. After graduation, she attended Western Illinois University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in marketing.

"I always wanted to be in marketing and really think about the people. I love that about marketing," she says.

Johns

From there, Johns spent a few years working with MultiAd Services Inc. as a project manager, collaborating with companies like Nike, Motorola and the YMCA. When she and her husband (and current regional vice president of Patriot Rail) married and started a family (twins Taylor and Quinton, currently 16 years old and attending Elmwood High School), she decided it was time to spend less time on planes and more time closer to home.

She took a marketing-specialist position with LG Seeds where she spent just over six years before becoming the marketing manager with IMEC, eventually working her way up to the vice president of marketing. IMEC is a not-for-profit organization affiliated with the U.S. Department of Commerce designed to help manufacturers create jobs.

When she accepted the role of vice president of marketing at Cullinan Properties in 2024, she felt inspired by her employer, Diane Cullinan Oberhelman, the company founder.

"Diane is amazing, and I aspire to be able to do what she does for the community," Johns said.

Where do local politics come into this?

"First and foremost, your city/county/backyard politics and community involvement are essential to making positive change in your life," she says. "It's a direct change you see right away, helping the people right next door. I've definately always wanted to give more. And I was just thrilled that (Almasi) thought of me. It made me push myself forward and think that now was the time to do some good."

Johns appreciates the foundation that is already built in Elmwood: good people, businesses, social structure and volunteers.

"There's momentum already built up," she says. "My vision is just how can I accelerate it."

She describes her strengths as being a fast-paced thinker and an ability to think about multiple perspectives, along with strategic thinking. She isn't afraid to challenge people "in the right way," either.

"Because every decision we make, we have to be OK with the worst outcome of that decision," she explains. "If we aren't OK with the secondary or tertiary consequences of that decision, then it's not the right decision."

Kristen Strom

Strom, of Ward 3, grew up in the Chicago suburbs before meeting her husband, Grant, a farmer. When they decided to marry, Kristen decided to leave the suburbs.

"Obviously, we couldn't move the farm, so I moved to the farm," Strom said. They have three children, ages 14, 13 and 8.

Strom

Strom received a bachelor of arts in English and language arts from the University of Illinois, a master of arts in curriculum and instruction from Bradley University and a doctorate in English with a focus on English education from Illinois State University.

She taught as an English teacher at Dunlap High School while earning her master's degree and taught at Illinois State while earning her doctorate. She has also taught at Methodist College, Knox College and Bradley, where she still occasionally covers a class when needed.

Strom spent two years as the coordinator of teacher education at Knox and two years as the strategy manager for Lyngso Fitness Academy. Currently, she serves as director of education and agricultural outreach for State Rep. Travis Weaver and is an entrepreneur, specializing in speaking, writing projects and personalized coaching on work/life balance.

Since moving to Elmwood three years ago, she started the Elmwood Junior/Senior High School Parent's Club and serves as president. She also regularly volunteers in the 4-H community and as a youth sports coach and is still working on that family farm.

Strom says that when she was approached about running for council, "I did what I always do, and I prayed on it first." She then decided that this was an opportunity for her to use her voice and her experience to help draw people to Elmwood and to help "create a vibrant place for people to live and thrive."

She says that while there are already so many great things happening in Elmwood, she wants to use her position to draw businesses to Elmwood and make it a place that people want to travel to, in part because of those businesses.

Tim Teel

Teel, new Ward 1 alderman, grew up in Brimfield, where he graduated with the class of 1988. He moved to Peoria as a young man, but he and his family relocated to Elmwood around 2004 in search of a smaller town and a better school district.

Teel

His wife, Brandi, is from Peoria and works as a secretary at Elmwood Presbyterian Church. Together, they have two children, Austin, 29, and Payton, 28, and two grandchildren.

Teel is an electrician by trade and has been with Oberlander Electric for 29 years. He is currently the site foreman of the Caterpillar Inc. facility. He describes himself as an adventurous type of person and his hobbies include adventure races and motorcycles. If you aren't catching him riding his BMW F800GT on the roads or his KTM 690 Enduro R on the trails, you may catch him running for St Jude.

This August, he participated in the St. Louis-to-Peoria St. Jude Run, marking 20 years of running for the organization. His goal is to continue his streak until he turns 60, at which point he will have raised a cumulative total of $100,000 for St Jude.

He is also a new member of the Elmwood Kiwanis.

When news got out that his predecessor on the council was retiring from his position, multiple community members approached him about running for the office. He spent time learning about the responsibilities from other council members before deciding that he "had time to give back, so I thought I would jump in and help where I could."

His goal for his term is simple: "I want to leave it better than I found it," Teel says. "But it's not in terrible shape right now, so just continuous improvements and just trying to make things better."

He brings with him experience with how money is spent at a government level from his time on the Elmwood School Board. "And maybe a little wisdom from gray hair," Teel jokes.

In addition to his new role as a council member, Teel is also the head of the streets, sidewalks and culverts committee as well as the head of the ordinances committee.

People are often unreasonable and self-centered....
FORGIVE them anyway.
If you are kind, people may accuse you of ulterior motives....
Be KIND anyway.
If you are honest, people may cheat you....
Be HONEST anyway.
If you find happiness, people may be jealous....
Be HAPPY anyway.
The good you do today may be forgotten tomorrow....
Do GOOD anyway.
Give the world the best you have, and it may never be enough.
Give your BEST anyway.
For you see, in the end, it is between you and God....
It never was between you and them anyway.

Pollination issues add to crop concerns

By DANIEL GRANT
FarmWeek

Recent rounds of “million-dollar rains” helped crops in many areas of Illinois deal with the stress of heat indices in excess of 100 degrees.

But the crops are far from made, as issues ranging from poor pollination to disease pressure threaten to take the top end off yield potential.

The portion of the crop rated good to excellent nationwide decreased a point for corn to 73% and increased by 2 points to 70% for soybeans as of July 28 compared to the previous week, USDA reported.

“We’re really fortunate. We got 3 to 4 inches (of rain) right before the latest heat wave,” Ryan Gentle, agronomy manager for Wyffels Hybrids, told DeLoss Jahnke of the RFD Radio Network.

“We’d be in a lot worse shape if we didn’t get that,” Gentle said. “We’ve got good (yield) potential, but we need a few more showers through August.”

Pollination issues

One issue that’s caught a lot of farmers off guard is poor pollination in some fields caused by tight tassel wrap. The relatively new phenomenon is caused during excessive growth of the corn plant when not many branches are available to pop the last leaf open during pollination, so a small portion of the tassel must pollinate the whole ear.

“It’s a factor of a few different things from what we’ve been seeing,” said Gentle, who hasn’t found the issue yet in Wyffels hybrids. “It’s part environmental, genetics and what the industry has selected for.”

Large corn tassels can produce up to 4 million pollen grains while even “normal” sized tassels produce up to 2 million pollen grains. But it takes about only 1,000 to fertilize an ear, so the seed industry subsequently selected genetics over the years for corn that doesn’t use as much energy to produce the pollen grains, according to Gentle.

But stress from extreme heat this year made it more difficult for the smaller tassels to emerge in some fields, which led to pollination issues. The average overnight temperatures from June 15 through July 15 were the fifth-hottest for that 30-day stretch in more than a century, Gentle reported.

“In genetics and hybrids that aren’t affected, we’ve got pretty normal pollination out there,” Gentle said. “But in some fields I’ve looked at, I’ve seen anywhere from 10 to 40% of ears affected. And of those affected, I’ve seen anywhere from 10% of kernels missing to up to 50%.

“If you’re worried, call your seed rep and get out and look,” he said. “Even if you take 10-15% off the top of 240-250-bushel corn, that adds up really fast.”

Jeff Guilander, FarmWeek CropWatcher from Jersey County, reported problems with tight tassel wrap in his area.

“Green snap, twisted tassels and husks that are too tight around the ear seem to be of concern,” Guilander said. “It makes me wonder about the record yield (181 bushels per acre for corn) USDA is expecting.”

Crop diseases

Meanwhile, farmers continue to apply fungicides as the heat and humidity in July was a good recipe for the spread of crop diseases. Tar spot and southern rust have already been confirmed at numerous locations around the state.

“In my area, gray leaf spot is the trigger for many of the fungicide applications,” Gentle said. “And we’ve also had reports of southern rust. It blows up on storms, and we’ve had plenty of those.”

Tar spot typically spreads when conditions are humid and cool, so cooler weather to start August could be something to watch.

CropWatchers Daniel Herriott, Champaign County, and Josh Sullivan, Christian County, both reported farmers are using more drones in their areas to apply fungicides.

“This year, (the use of drones) has certainly picked up significantly,” Herriott told RFD’s Jim Taylor.

This story was distributed through a cooperative project between Illinois Farm Bureau and the Illinois Press Association.

Williamsfield aiming at clay pigeons

By NICK VLAHOS
For The Weekly Post

WILLIAMSFIELD – Clay-pigeon shooting is to be the newest activity for Williamsfield junior-high and high school students.

When it met Monday, the Williamsfield School Board gave its permission for the trap-shooting team to use the Billtown mascot and colors. That and the participants are to be about the only connections between the school and the team, according to its primary organizer.

“Safety is the No. 1 priority,” Victoria resident Adam Rice told board members. “The No. 2 priority is to have fun.”

Like other Williamsfield activities and sports, the new team is to be a co-operative arrangement with the Oneida-based ROWVA district. The ROWVA board gave its approval last month, according to Rice.

The USA Clay Target League, a Minnesota-based not-for-profit organization, is the general overseer of the program. The R-W program is expected to begin in the 2026 spring season.

R-W students will compete at a range in Kewanee, Rice said. Among area schools with teams are Brimfield, Elmwood and Farmington.

A state tournament is scheduled at the end of the season. No qualification is necessary, Rice said.

Gun-safety courses are part of the program. The anticipated per-student cost is $40, not including range time, according to Rice. He said he’s working with area businesses and chapters of Pheasants Forever and the National Rifle Association for donations.

Williamsfield-board support was unanimous. Rice said at least two students are needed for a team, but he expects more than that.

“We did it in Morrison last year,” new Billtown Superintendent David Mills said about his former workplace. “It was a huge hit. The kids loved it.”

After it gave its assent to the new target-shooting team, the board authorized a tentative budget for the 2026 fiscal year. The projected overall balance at the end of the fiscal year is $1,277,058, Mills said. He suggested the budget continues the reduced-costs emphasis of his predecessor, Rolf Sivertsen.

The thorniest issue appears to be the transportation fund, which is projected to have a bottom-line deficit of about $130,000. Mills expressed concern about maintaining the district electric-bus fleet. The Canadian-based company that built the buses has gone bankrupt.

Board President Chad Goff said other firms are attempting to acquire the proprietary information needed to service the buses. Mills lauded maintenance efforts of Adam Doubet, the district transportation director, but the superintendent indicated the status quo cannot hold.

“I don’t get more comfortable as time passes,” Mills said. “We haven’t put any kids on these things yet and I’m already worried about them. I know we need to get out from under them as soon as possible.”

Final budget approval is expected when the board meets at 6 p.m. Sept. 17. That meeting was rescheduled from Sept. 8 because of budget-related legal requirements.

Among other items Monday, the board:

- Authorized hiring Kathryn Bosnich as a third-grade teacher.
- Approved a technology-coordinator stipend of $2,413.07.
- OK’d changing the district legal representative from Miller, Tracy, Braun, Funk & Miller, Ltd., of Monticello to Franczek P.C. of Chicago.

The two attorneys who have been working with the district moved from the previous law firm to Franczek.

Julie E. Chatterton

HANNA CITY – Julie Elizabeth (Trent) Chatterton, 48, of Hanna City, passed away Aug. 9, 2025. She was born on Feb. 4, 1977, in Dunlap, a daughter of Tom and Connie (Pardieck) Trent. She married Zac Chatterton on May 27, 2000. Surviving are her children, Jackson Chatterton (Tessa Little) and Brooklyn Chatterton, both of Hanna City; her sister, Carrie (Brian) Newman; her in-laws, Rod and Suzanne (Doran) Chatterton; her brothers- and sisters-in-law, Chris and Amy Hart and Ty and Jennifer Chatterton; and several nieces and nephews, as well as many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Chatterton

Preceding Julie in death was their beloved daughter, Olivia Grace; her paternal grandparents, Ernie and Marjorie Trent; and her maternal grandparents, Bob and Joan Pardieck.

After Olivia's passing and having witnessed her daughter overcome so many challenges, Julie felt a profound calling to support others facing similar struggles. She returned to school and earned her bachelor's degree in nursing. She then began working in the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU) at The Children's Hospital of Illinois—where Olivia had spent much of her too-short life.

Julie found deep fulfillment in her work, through both the joyous miracles and the heartbreaking losses she encountered. Yet her greatest purpose and joy in life was being a devoted wife and mother.

Julie was the kindest of souls, someone who found beauty in everyone and cherished every day spent with her loved ones.

A visitation will be held at Wright and Salmon Funeral Home in Peoria on Thursday, Aug. 14, from 4-8 p.m.

A private graveside service and burial will take place at Prospect Cemetery in Dunlap.

A celebration-of-life gathering will be held at the Hanna City Sportsman's Club on Saturday, Aug. 16, from 2-5 p.m. (a brief prayer and toast will be at 3 p.m.). Memorials may be made to the PICU Nurses Sunshine (OSF Children's Hospital of Illinois 530 NE Glen Oak Ave. Peoria, IL 61637) or to The Nuge Tyra Foundation www.facebook.com/nugetyrafoundation.

Pages From The Past

Compiled by Andy Latora

5 Years Ago

- Elmwood’s K9 program is running short on donations. That’s what Treasurer Bonnie Beal told the Elmwood City Council at its monthly meeting. Beals said the savings account was down to $9.31 as of July 31.
- The Illinois High School Association announced more detailed guidelines for sporting events regarding COVID-19. Those guidelines were modified again by the Illinois Department of Public Health to include more restrictions that drew grumbles from coaches and parents. For instance, prep golfers must now wear masks while competing, except when hitting the ball. Spectators must also wear masks. Other restrictions for golfers include no touching the flagstick, bunker rakes or ball-cleaning devices.

- Trees took a beating as winds reported up to 70 mph buffeted the area in an afternoon storm known as a derecho – which is similar to an inland hurricane. A storm that saw gusts of up to 100 mph wreak havoc on parts of Iowa and caused more than 1 million power outages across the Midwest swept through central Illinois with less force but still packed some punch.
- Farmington District 265 will make remote learning available to all students under an adjusted back-to-school plan approved by the Board of Education at its meeting.

10 Years Ago

- Country music recording artist David Frizzell headlined the 126th annual Brimfield Old Settlers Days, taking the stage for two shows on Day 2 of the three-day event.
- Princeville schools announced a delay to the start of the school year after a couple of mistakes and more unforeseen problems in a construction project at the school. The school opening was pushed back to Sept. 8.

said. “It was a fun game with coaches and players all working together. At the end of the game someone said, ‘Hey, we should do this next year for the whole season.’ I then said, ‘There is no way that's going to happen again. We will both have full teams again next year.’”

Instead, Kenney was happy to eat his words in an effort to give kids a chance to play. And so far, everything has worked out well. Concerns over rivalries at the high school level have not been an issue.

“Tom and I made sure to set the tone and work together for the kids,” Kenney said. “Not worry about the rivalry at the high school level and just teach these kids there is more to football than Farmington/E-B foot-ball games.”

During a July 29 coaches meeting, all involved agreed to merge play-books and to run plays from both programs. There are co-coaches on offense and defense.

“Everyone walked away from the meeting with lots of optimism, The Brimfield kids are excited they get to run the spread some and pass a bit,” Kenney said. “And the biggest thing at the meeting was all the coaches checked their egos at the door and made this season about the kids.”

Practices started July 30 and alternate between Brimfield and Farmington. Games start Aug. 23.

• X Country – The first preseason ratings of the season smile on Elmwood-Brimfield. In Class 1A pre-views compiled by Illinois Running News, the E-B boys are rated third and the E-B girls are 10th.

The boys ranking will likely change quite a bit, though, as anticipated top-two runner Darwin Herman has opted not to come out for his senior season. That leaves seniors Aiden Faulkner, a returning all-stater, and Kam Stevenson to lead an otherwise young group.

The E-B girls team is also young, with just one senior and one junior on a roster dominated by talented underclassmen back from a surprise 10th-place finish last season.

Players from Farmington and Brimfield have joined forces ton a blended 14-under JFL team. The team alternates practices between Brimfield and Farmington. New jerseys with the team name of Farm-field have not yet arrived. Photo by Brimfield-Elmwood Sports Shots.

Co-op for football: Farmfield

Farmington, Brimfield form 14-under team
By JEFF LAMPE
For The Weekly Post

On the field, Elmwood-Brimfield and Farmington remain football rivals at most levels.

Not everywhere, though, at least not in JFL action.

Players from Brimfield and Farmington JFL leagues are playing on the same 14-and-under team this season. As practices neared in late July, it became apparent that Farmington did not have enough players register for that age group and Brimfield had 16, just one over the minimum.

“Playing against the likes of Washington, (Peoria) Richwoods, Woodruff and Dunlap – all having teams with 30-plus players – it’s a tough task with 16 kids to compete,” Brimfield JFL Director Monte Kenney said.

Rather than struggle to compete and watch Farmington’s 11 would-be players miss a season, Kenney and Farmington JFL Director Tom Oldfield Pictured is the jersey design for the combined 14-under JFL team of players from Farmington and Brimfield. Both teams were lacking enough registered players to field competitive teams. Brimfield had 16 players, one over the minimum, and Farmington had 11.

opted to combine forces. That decision is reflected in the team name of Farmfield and in black jerseys that will bear that unique moniker. The team even has its own theme: Stronger Together.

A precedent for this, of sorts, was set last season when both the Brimfield and Farmington 12-and-under teams found themselves short of the minimum requirement for players due to injuries. Instead of forfeiting, they combined for Farmington’s final game, a win against Marshall County.

“During that game many of the fans started to chant, ‘Let’s go Brimington, Let’s go Farmfield.’” Kenney

What Else Aren't They Telling Us?

WASHINGTON — The Department of Transportation under then-Secretary Pete Buttigieg brushed aside safety concerns to approve dozens of windmill projects near America’s highways and railroads - despite acknowledging potential hazards, The Post has learned. At least 33 safety recommendations to place wind turbines well clear of the critical infrastructure were overruled in 2023 and 2024, according to a current department official, permitting the projects to be built close enough to possibly interfere with vital radio communications.
